

Gospel Crusade Being Conducted At Green Church

The Green Community church has begun its fall "gospel crusade" with Evangelist Rev. Joe Brill of Bellingham, Wash. The special meetings began Sunday, Sept. 30, and will continue nightly until Oct. 14. The public is invited to the meetings, each evening at 7:30.

The Rev. Mr. Brill, the Pacific Northwest Youth for Christ speaker and evangelist, is conducting evangelistic campaigns throughout the Northwest. He is at present on a two-month series of meetings around Douglas county at the invitation of many churches and pastors.

He has been in full-time Christian work since he was 19 years old. He is well known on the Pacific coast, having been a director of Youth for Christ in Tacoma, Wash., Oakland, Calif., and Eugene. The father of four children, he makes his home in Bellingham. His preacher's credentials are held in the Christian and Missionary Alliance movement. He is a graduate of the Simpson Bible institute, Seattle, Wash.

The Green Community church is located on old highway 99 south, near Happy Valley road, five miles south of Roseburg. The church, being erected by people of the community who are contributing their efforts, is nearing completion.

U. S. Must Aid Freedom Seekers, Hull Reminds

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Cordell Hull, in an 80th birthday statement, says that "men and women desperately striving for freedom desperately need our aid, and that aid we must render."

In a message issued through the state department, the Tennesseean, who was secretary of state from 1933 through 1944, said "our country occupies a unique position... in this current struggle between the forces of freedom and the forces of tyranny."

"So great are our resources by comparison with those of others," he continued, "that victory for the forces of freedom is possible only if we act now with the same fervor and the same dedication with which the 13 colonies fought in defense of the rights of free men 175 years ago."

Janitor, Losing Sight, Ends Life With Gas

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — For 25 years Otto Faltermayer worked in the office of Germantown high school. His chief job—and his special pride—was the handling of night school records.

In all that time he rarely was off duty. But Tuesday night he did not show up.

His worried employers called a brother, Dr. Fred W. Faltermayer, who with a friend went to the house where the 60-year-old Otto lived alone.

The doors and windows were locked, and the two men had to break into the house. Otto lay dead on the kitchen floor, before open jets of a gas stove. The howling of two pet dachshunds carried from the basement.

Propped on the kitchen table was a note reading: "I am losing the sight of both my eyes. Please take good care of the dogs."

3 Power Firms Denied Permit To Boost Rates

SALEM — (AP) — Public Utilities Commissioner George H. Flagg refused Wednesday to allow three large power companies to boost their rates temporarily to care for anticipated increased costs caused by steam power generation.

But Flagg added that the companies could come in and apply for the higher rates after they incur the increased costs.

The companies are Portland General Electric, Pacific Power and Light, and Mountain States Power.

They, together with companies operating in Washington state, asked for an extra $5,000,000 in rate increase. They said that's what it would cost them to generate steam power this year because of less water available for hydro-electric power.

Flagg explained to the companies that it would be better for them to apply for the higher rates after they actually know what the added costs would be.

The companies asked for rate increases varying from 9 to 23 percent. These rates would have been effective only in the winter months.

"Despite the temporary relief from the recent rains, the power situation can become serious in the next few weeks," Flagg said.

"I believe this order is the fairest means of meeting the situation. Only demonstrated additional expenses will be considered in arriving at the surcharge, and then only amounts within the limits of reasonable earnings permitted under the law.

"A close check will be maintained. Everyone is urged to reduce the use of this higher priced electricity in every possible manner.

"It is entirely possible that in many cases the increased costs can be thus absorbed."

COPENHAGEN, Denmark — (AP) — Three more Danish provincial newspapers announced today they will cease publication because of increased newspaper prices. This makes a total of 15 Danish newspapers that have folded since July 1.
