JANET LEIGH is quite shocked at the language of PAUL DOUGLAS in MGM's comedy-hit, "ANGELS IN THE OUTFIELD"

KRRL Dial Log

9:45'ers, our new Saturday program, which could also be called a Sunday School routine. Originally scheduled at 11:00 a.m., the first program being broadcast at that time, the scheduling of the Oklahoma symphony from 11:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon forced us to find a new time for the 9:45'ers, and we're inclined to think the new time is better. It will certainly find more children at their radios.

THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL presents a new gimmick this coming Saturday, to make Douglas traffic conscious of its terrible traffic casualty record for this year. As you know, Douglas county leads the state outside of Multnomah county in traffic deaths for this year. All day next Saturday, "DEATH ROW" may be seen on N. Jackson street from Cass to Lane streets. This will be an exhibition of wrecked cars. Pessimistic, gory, horrible. Yes, all these adjectives fit, but don't you think we need something to wake us up? Let's hope it will produce the desired effect; make us more conscious of our duties as drivers. Look out for the other fellow as well as yourself.

AN INCREDIBLE ADVENTURE awaits the Cisco Kid and Pancho when they ride upon the scene of an attempted drygulch. Tonight's dramatization finds the two vaqueros involved in a mysterious affair which concerns some blood-thirsty seamen and a valuable jade parrot. Titled "Strange Treasure in San Diego," it is set against the background of that colorful city on California's southern coast. . . as it was in the 1870's. Tonight, 7:30-8:00.

DESCENDANTS OF THE DEAD: "Locked Door" is tonight's "Mysterious Traveler" title. An expedition to the mountain region of Lake Mead, Ariz., turns into a nightmare when two explorers run into the remains of a wagon train. . . sealed into a cavern. They discover the skeletons of the trapped pioneers as well as a number of their descendants, survivors who have managed to stay alive while trapped in the black abyss. "Mysterious Traveler" is one of the block of Mother and Dad stories presented at 10:30 Monday through Friday, with this particular one booked Wed.

JACK KIRKWOOD SAYS: When a fellow tries to put a little color in his life, he usually winds up in the red.
