

Cancer Problems Talked At Meet Held In Portland

A two-day educational meeting of the American Cancer society held in Portland last week attracted, approximately 100 delegates from Oregon, who heard prominent surgeons, doctors and psychiatrists discuss the problems of cancer and its cure endeavors. The slogan, "Look On The Bright Side," key-noted the meeting and doctors emphasized the strides in diagnostic and curative medicine made in the past five years. Doctors called attention to the fact that while one person in five will have cancer, strides in surgery, radiology and diagnostic methods bring to the cancer patient an excellent chance of cure.

Delegates who attended the meeting from various Oregon counties returned to their homes prepared to carry on in their communities an intensive education program for the general public. The early recognition of the seven warning signs of cancer and the need for early treatment will be emphasized.

Attending from Douglas county were Mrs. Celia Day, Mrs. Lloyd Hayes, Mrs. Erika Graham, Dr. B. R. Shoemaker, Mrs. D. S. Johnson, Mrs. Cowan and Miss Patricia Mayo.

tion in San Francisco. They assisted local doctors in administering to the injured. Dr. Anthony F. Ippolito, of Chicago, prominent orthopedic surgeon, was killed in the wreck with his wife. He was a speaker at the American College of Surgeons convention.

Dr. Ippolito was a graduate of Purdue University, and starred as a fullback on their 1937-38-39 teams. He then joined the Chicago Bears professional team and played the 1943 season as a guard.

Sex Education Topic For Radio Discussion

In its broadest implications, sex education consists of helping children toward an understanding of one of the most important aspects of human relations — the feelings of love and consideration that men and women have toward one another, according to Aline B. Auerbach, a member of the family counseling service of the Child Study Association.

The Douglas county council of Parent - Teacher associations presents this phase of education in a discussion of "Sex Education in the Home" on Wednesday at 2 p.m. over KRXL.

The following Wednesday the subject for consideration will be "Parents Through the Eyes of Teen-agers."

GRANGE PLANS PLAY

The South Deer Creek Grange will present a three-act play at Dixonville hall Saturday, Nov. 17, at 8 p.m. The play, a comedy, is entitled "Billy's Goat." Proceeds from the affair will be allocated to improvement of the South Deer Creek Grange. Grange ladies will sell pie, cake and coffee.

MAN EXPOSES SECRET

It was disclosed today that a local businessman recently revealed certain information which, until now, has been possessed by a select few. There are indications that, as a matter of general knowledge, this can, in some way, affect every resident in this city.

The informer, C. Wolf of Expert Furniture Cleaners and Upholsterers, directly behind Richie's Root-Beer Drive-In on highway 99 North, revealed, that unbeknown to most of the public, an upholsterer (custom) is not just a re-builder of furniture. He is, in truth, a designer of select furniture. There are three (3) differences between his (the upholsterer's) work and the large assembly line manufacturer's—(1) the custom upholsterer's furniture is tailor made—(2) The custom upholsterer's is of much higher quality, longer lasting—(3) it is less expensive. Any questions regarding this subject will be answered cheerfully and without obligation by calling 3-3191. It's an ad.

John Wilson Elected Delegate To Powwow

John Wilson was elected Monday night as Roseburg delegate to the Pacific Northwest Powwow for the YMCA Indian guides this weekend in Portland.

The selection was made at a meeting in Wilson's home of members of the Umpqua and Baptist church tribes of the local Indian guides. Wilson will attend the Powwow Saturday, which marks the Oregon celebration of the 25th anniversary of the fast-growing father-and-son program sponsored by the YMCA. The program is based on the same philosophy as that evidenced by the Indians in their combination father-and-son cooperation.

In addition to the Saturday evening Powwow, some "How To Do It" meetings are slated for Sunday morning.

Angling Refuge For Youngsters Plan Of Jaycees

Firm support of a limited angling refuge for youngsters was expressed at the lightly-attended Junior chamber of commerce dinner meeting at the Hotel Umpqua Monday night.

Committee Chairman Ernie Barker reported that tentative plans for the project would call for restocking some waterway in the vicinity with fish. He continued that fishing in that waterway would be limited to children under the age of 14. Climaxing the season, he said, the junior chamber could sponsor a fish derby, still limited to that same age group.

He stated the matter must be cleared by the state game commission, but as yet his committee has been unable to contact it.

Nominations Presented

With 1951 rapidly coming to an end, year-end plans for election of new officers for next year got underway with a list of candidates selected by the nominating committee. Named to compete for offices were the following: President — Sid Moon and Irv Pugh; international vice - president — Bob McCarl and Bill Tipton, external vice president — Ernie Barker and Clyde Moore; treasurer — Ken Gray and Jack Lucas; secretary — Jack Shiley and Charles Chittwood; sergeant - at - arms — Chuck Wright and Art Pollard. Nominated for the board of directors were Don Kaskey, Don Keuber, Warren Anderson, Ted Dalbey, Joe Boatwright, John Hardiman and John Fett.

Further nominations from the floor are scheduled for the next dinner meeting, Nov. 26. The elections will be held Dec. 10.

Awards For Schools

A large share of the meeting was taken up with committee reports. Ed Montgomery, chairman of the Newollah parade committee, reported that the kid's Halloween outing was a success. He said approximately 1,000 children had participated in the parade.

He announced that Rose school had won the attendance award for schools over 200 students and Wilbur was tops among the schools of under 200.

The next dinner meeting, Nov. 26, will be ladies' night. Highlighting the mixed meeting will be a speaker from the state correction school for boys at Woodburn. Joining him as an additional speaker is John Luvaas, state president of the Jaycees.

Since the organization of the YMCA in this area three years ago, a conscientious and ambitious group of directors have contributed largely to its success.

Sparkling the group — all volunteer workers — has been O. M. Feldkamp, president of the board of directors for the past two years. Along with 25 other men and women, who comprise the board of directors, Feldkamp has been donating between ten and 15 hours weekly to YMCA activities.

The board directs the work of the executive secretary, Marlin Donaldson, and cooperates nationally with other YMCAs through the local boards.

This week (Nov. 12-17), the YMCA observes national Y week. In addition to his YMCA activities, Feldkamp is active in other community affairs. He is a member of the Christian church board of elders, and assists in the promotion of the community chest campaign, of which the Y is a part. He has also been elected to the community hospital board and is a member of the Community Chest board.

In business life, Feldkamp is co-owner of the Umpqua dairy.

Directors Spark Local YMCA

William Augustus Finn, 71, of Newport, died suddenly early last night as the result of a heart attack while visiting friends in Canyonville. Finn was born May 18, 1880, in England. He was a retired Portland police officer.

Glide

By MRS. ARTHUR M. SELBY

The fire makers group of the Glide camp fire girls have selected a new group name and hereafter will be known as the Wa-Han-Ka group. On the evening of Nov. 7 at the Glide grange hall, this group staged a play, "Camp Fire in a Nutshell." There were also several musical numbers by the members; Elsie Bridges rendered piano selections; the five piece band whose members are Betty Lewis, Helen Taylor, Sally Frazier, Shirley Persons, and Elsie Bridges played three numbers; and Jeannette Perry, member of the Waditaka group, gave two accordion selections. Three other members of the Wa-Han-Ka group Judy Suhrted, Mary Webster, and Ruth Webster, took part in the play.

After the program, refreshments were served. Articles made by the Camp Fire girls were on display and several sales were made for the benefit of their treasury. All the guests thoroughly enjoyed the evening and this group was requested to repeat their play for the general meeting of the PTA on Dec. 3 at Glide high school.

The Glide PTA Christmas fund benefit card party given Friday evening, Nov. 9, was successful. Mrs. Mike Mullins, president, reported that over two-hundred tickets were sold, and they received a surprise donation of $10.00 each from the Lone Rock Market and Hanson Lumber Mill on Little River. There were fifteen tables of card players. The attendance numbered 72. Fifteen prizes were donated and the committee decided to have a drawing of the numbered tickets sold, and one player their prizes but these are given at each card table drew a winning number from the box. Holders of some of the winning numbers were not present to receive held at the Glide store.

Among these prizes, is a package of 4 steaks in the store's icebox. The winning numbers outstanding are 46-47-48-51-127-129-109.

The ways & means committee in charge of the party included Mrs. Bob Blakeley, chairman, Mrs. Bob McEwen and Mrs. Andy Harvey. All members present assisted in serving the refreshments. The PTA highly appreciated the wonderful community spirit shown by the residents of Glide school district No. 12.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. P. Blakely, were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Harvey and daughter of Coos Bay.

The Idlelyd Park cafe reopened Thursday under new management. The new proprietors are Charlotte Huntsinger from Portland and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Grant of Roseburg. Grant is a driver of one of the Mel-O-Maid butter and ice-cream trucks. Mrs. Huntsinger has had many years' experience in the restaurant business.

Saturday morning's heavy wind broke branches from water soaked trees littering the North Umpqua highway east of Lone Rock bridge. A large fir tree on the Phil Strader property blew down falling directly across the highway near the Red Barn blocking the road until a power saw could cut it in pieces that could be moved.

Mail carrier D. A. Stewart narrowly escaped serious injury after leaving Idlelyd Park postoffice and was continuing on his route towards Mc's place. The heavy rains had loosened the earth on the cliff side of the highway and a huge boulder rolled down across the highway in front of his car, missing it by only a few inches.

INDIAN PROFESSOR — Pictured above is Professor Victor Pavamani, Calicut, India, who will present a series of speeches in Roseburg Wednesday and Thursday. He is now studying for his doctor's degree at the University of Oregon. In India, he is an English instructor in Malebar Christian college, and upon his return he will be president designate of the college. At 7:30 p. m. Wednesday he will address Hi-Y and Tri-Y members in the Baptist church; Thursday morning at 9 he will speak at the Senior high school; at 2 p.m. he will be at the Junior high school, and Thursday night he will address Rotarians in the Methodist church.

Raven, Like Mary's Lamb, Follows Boy To School

Mary had a little lamb that followed her to school one day — but eight-year-old Bobby Anderson can do better than that.

Bobby has a raven that follows him to school every day.

"The big black bird named 'Smoky' flies right up to the door and, on occasion, flits right into Bobby's third-grade classroom.

And as in the tale of Mary's lamb, that's very much against the rule.

"It's too much of a distracting influence," says principal John Blaikie.

But to the children the bird is a gay companion. Dozens of youngsters surround it at every recess, happily tossing pebbles which the raven neatly catches with its beak.

Indians Rally To Aid Of Ailing Jim Thorpe

NEW YORK — (AP) — Indians in the metropolitan area are rallying to help Jim Thorpe, the fabulous Indian athlete who is recovering from an operation at Philadelphia.

Thorpe's wife said the one-time all America football star and Olympic medal winner, voted "athlete of the century" is Associated Press poll, is without funds.

A Sioux princess, Juanita Senter, said she had formed a committee to raise funds from among Indians to aid Thorpe. She said she herself had donated $100.

WAC Opens New Fields To Women

Young women enlisting in the women's army corps in the next few months may have opportunities to train in new technical fields and perform military jobs now open only to men, according to the local WAC recruiter, Sgt. Kathleen Harrison.

Such opportunities, Sgt. Harrison said, would result from a survey of occupational analysis teams now at work in all army areas throughout the United States. Two teams have been assigned to the Sixth army area, and one team currently is at the Presidio of San Francisco and the other at Fort Lewis, Wash.

Team members will interview hundreds of military personnel regarding their exact occupational duties, with an eye to catching changes in jobs which have taken place as the army keeps pace with scientific, technological and tactical developments.

It takes more than talent to make a go of a career in music . . . according to people who know. The most important step toward making music your life's work . . . is to choose early . . . usually before the age of 18. Then steel yourself for the grind ahead. First of all, you have to be technically sure of yourself, your technique and your interest in your work.

Next . . . you have to be discovered and pushed ahead by the people who do the pushing. After that it's up to you. The life of a concert artist goes by in a hectic hazzel . . . making concert deadlines when you're dead tired and just off the bus or plane or train. It's a constant rush and fight to get where you're going . . . and then give an acceptable performance.

Yes, there's a price for fame in the musical world. And it's a high one. In comparison, though, the returns are great and there's nothing to equal the satisfaction of bringing your music to a world that wants it.

Your family will get a world of pleasure from a fine piano. You're invited to come in and try our fine selection of WURLITZERS and BALDWIN'S. They're just right in tone, quality and price. And you can pay on convenient terms at OTT & RICKETTS MUSIC STORE, 101-105 W. Cass St. Phone: 3-3202. (Paid Advertisement)

Winston

By MRS. GEORGE BACHER

Confined to her home this week with laryngitis is Mrs. George Bacher.

Good news to rabbit breeders in Winston and surrounding communities was the announcement that a certified slaughterhouse has been erected nearby. T. E. Goodwin, the owner and also a licensed butcher, addressed the Umpqua Valley Rabbit Breeders' association at their regular Tuesday evening meeting held at the Winston community hall.

The slaughterhouse is located on Landers' Lane. A special invitation has been issued to all growers to call and inspect the building, ask questions, and familiarize themselves with the policies to be practiced. It is state approved.

It's good-by to autumn in Winston. Winter, or a reasonable facsimile, struck on Friday evening. The high gale brought down the russet leaves which have caused so much comment this year. And that's not all it brought down. Rain too, of course, but worse yet, loose shingles and shakes from roofs.

"Up on the housetop, click, click, click" — it happens every year here about Christmas time!

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Carlin of Coos Bay were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kearby Masters of Winston.

Ernest Pruitt underwent a major operation Friday at the Roseburg Community hospital. He is reported to be resting comfortably. Mr. Pruitt, a resident of Winston, is foreman at the Umpqua Valley Plywood mill.

Sunday Gospel Crusade Scheduled At Melrose

The Melrose American Sunday school union gospel crusade with the Evangelist Rev. Joseph Brill, Bellingham, Wash., began Sunday and will continue each evening except Saturday through this week, according to Arthur Kelstrup, local missionary.

It will be held through Sunday evening at the Melrose chapel, one mile from the Melrose store, at 7:30 p. m. Special instrumental and vocal music will be presented. The public is invited.

Russia's Submarine Force Stirs Anxiety

LONDON — (AP) — Brassey's Annual, an unofficial British review of the world's armed forces, says Russia has a formidable submarine force which is causing apprehension among other naval powers.

The review — generally considered to receive its information from authoritative sources — said Russia is believed to have 380 submarines in service and 12 more under construction.

It said the Soviet Union now has and could mobilize 300 divisions — half of Russia's World War II peak — within two months of an outbreak of war.

The Russian air force has "very large numbers" of high quality jet fighters, notably the MIG-15 seen in Korea, the review said, but a copy of the U. S. B-29 Superfortress is still its only heavy bomber in service.
