Swedish Writer Gets Nobel Prize For Literature

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—The Swedish academy has awarded the 1951 Nobel prize for literature to one of its own members, Par Lagerkvist, author of the novels "The Dwarf" and "Barabbas." Lagerkvist, who is 60 years old and a playwright, poet, essayist and a writer of short stories as well as a novelist, will receive a check for 167,612 crowns ($32,357) at the Nobel prize presentation ceremony to be held in Stockholm on Dec. 10. In 1950, he reached the ranks of international bestsellers with "Barabbas," a novel about the thief saved from crucifixion when the Jews chose to have him released instead of Jesus. This novel was translated into 11 languages within a year of its publication in Sweden and was published in America last month. Two of America's leading atomic scientists, Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg and Dr. Edwin M. McMillan, both of the University of California at Berkeley, are expected to be named as winners of the 1951 Nobel prize in chemistry. Seaborg is the discoverer of five new elements of matter, including plutonium, the substance which made the atomic bomb cheaper. McMillan, through the earlier discovery of the element neptunium, paved the way for Seaborg's finding of plutonium.

Nobel Prize For Physics Given British Scientists

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—Two pioneers in British atomic research today were awarded jointly the 1951 Nobel prize for physics. They are Sir John Cockcroft, the British government's top atomic scientist, and Prof. P. M. S. Blackett of Trinity College. They were the first to split atomic nuclei with artificially boosted high tensions—a 1932 experiment which helped pave the way for the atomic age. The team will divide an award of 167,612 Swedish crowns, (about $32,357). The money comes from a trust fund established by the late Alfred Nobel, Swedish inventor of dynamite.

White Potatoes May Go Under Price Ceilings

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Price control officials say ceilings may have to be placed on white potatoes if prices continue to rise as they have in the last few months. The officials told potato growers that if ceilings do become necessary they will be set at a level to assure a parity price return to farmers. Parity is a price calculated to give the farmer a fair price for his products in relation to what he has to buy. Officials pointed out that the national average price of potatoes rose from $1.23 a bushel, or 68 percent of parity on Sept. 15, to $1.39 a bushel, or 76 percent of parity on Oct. 15. The parity price on Oct. 15 was $1.83 a bushel. OPS has received reports that prices of some grades are considerably higher than average as of Oct. 15.
