

Need Of School Expansion Poses Elkton Problem

An expected 100 - student enrollment in future years at Elkton High School has brought expansion problems to the district's school board.

Kenneth F. Barneburg, county school superintendent, said there are enough youngsters in Elkton Grade School to bring future high school enrollment to 100. At present some 60 students attend the high school.

At a public meeting Monday, the school board recommended immediate purchase of a plot of ground adjacent to the school property and proposed two expansion solutions.

The meeting was attended by Barneburg; A. L. Beck, assistant building consultant, and Richard Sorick, superintendent of secondary education both of the State Department of Education.

The first proposed solution involves the construction of two new classrooms and a number of revisions to the present building. This would provide for the addition of a home economics department.

Cost of this program would range from $30,000 to $50,000, according to Eugene Fisher, chairman of the Elkton school board.

The second proposed method would be to construct a new gymnasium and convert the present gym to classrooms and a manual training shop. This proposal also provides for a new heating plant and a new kitchen and cafeteria.

Cost would be some $15,000 for revision of the present structure, plus $150,000 to $160,000 for construction of the gym, Fisher said.

Also under consideration is the addition of one new teacher, bringing the staff to six instructors.

A district election to decide on the purchase of the plot of ground will be held Jan. 28. Voting on new construction proposals will be held later.

Riversdale To Vote Again On School Issue facilities at Senior High to accommodate these students for the future or leave their respective districts the problem of caring for them.

Improvement "Must" — Something will have to be done to improve facilities at Roseburg High to accommodate the enrollment, according to two executives from the State Department of Education who have just visited here.

On Jan. 10 and 11, George Serino, supervisor of physical education and health for the state of Oregon, visited the school and observed that facilities for physical education were very inadequate, according to Elliott.

Serino noted that the classes were without sufficient space to meet state standards. The dressing area is insufficient for half the students in the daily classes. Also, part of the space is in the end of the corridors, where naked boys and girls may be exposed to hall traffic because of swinging doors.

Fire regulations prohibit these doors being closed by locks. This means, he said, that prohibited conditions to the Senior High plant are needed now. If allocations of materials are made immediately, it will be the fall of 1953 before the additions could be ready for occupancy.

Mr. Serino spoke highly of the instructional staff and their spirit in view of the inadequacy of the plant, said Elliott.

Supervisor Comments — Henry Sorick, supervisor of secondary education, is in the county this week working with the county school superintendent and visiting high schools. He spent Jan. 18 in Roseburg Senior High.

He also expressed concern over the inadequacy of the present plant relative to shops and mechanical courses and additional space needed for academic classes.

His reaction was that any student who is to be planned for in additional building space should definitely make it known to the board of district 4 that they wish to be accommodated in the future.

Elliott said the written reports from both these supervisors will be filed with the county school superintendent's office and the District 4 board in the very near future.

ALTERNATE ROAD ROUTES SURVEYED—Preliminary location work has been done to establish comparative data on alternate proposed roads between Sutherlin and Lone Rock, reports Wallace Hector, county road engineer. The above map, prepared by Mr. Hector for The News-Review, shows the approximate routes of the two roads, concerning which there is a current controversy. The Sutherlin-Oakland community is urging construction of the so-called "Short Route," by way of Bradley and Gassy creeks to connect with the Calapooia road.

The county court has given tentative approval to the "River Route," between Lone Rock and Wilbur, with a cut-off leading directly into Sutherlin by way of Cooper creek. The "River Route," Hector reports, actually is shorter by 1.1 miles than the so-called "Short Route," while opening up 26 miles of territory not now served by a road. Differential in cost is not great, Hector says, as construction of the "Short Route" would involve extensive improvements to the Calapooia road in addition to the new road building involved.

Access Roads Necessity Stressed By Forester

Sufficient timber was available in more accessible locations, Roads Becomes Imparative

"Within the last 35 years, however, we have fought two major wars and are engaged in a third period of emergency. The demands on our timber supplies have been great, and if we are now to sustain local economies and have supplies of timber available for future emergencies, it is going to take a plan - wise development of a road system into these areas."

In stating the Forest Service policies, Stone noted that the policy called for "devoting the land to the most productive use for the permanent good of the whole people and not for the temporary benefit of individual or companies." Decentralized administration, he said is another principle.

"We are attempting to make timber, water, recreation, wildlife and forage of the national forest of this region available for use under such controls as are necessary to provide for perpetuation of the forest and for protection of all resources."

Football Picture Draws Comment Of Hungarian

It seems there comes a time when football is not football. That is the conclusion to be drawn from a letter of an Austrian boy who viewed a picture of a football game entered in the International Art Project last year by Lorraine Ditchen, Roseburg Junior High School student.

Here, in part, is what Poil Ludwig wrote:

"You sent us a painting by the Junior Red Cross in which a kind of playing ball is to be seen. You write that your boys like to play football. But this game is not football. The boys have helmets on their heads. The ball is not round, it has the shape of an egg. On the back of the playground there is a tribune."

Poil is an eighth grade student living in Oberwart, a small town near the Hungarian frontier.

Lorraine entered the painting through sponsorship of the Junior Red Cross chapter.

Stamp Theft Sends Clerk To Penal Farm

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Twenty-year-old Wilson Curtis' extravagance with stamps proved to be his undoing.

While working at a men's clothing store as a wrapper and mailer during the Christmas shopping season, Curtis mailed himself a suit and three ties without bothering to drop $76 in the till.

He lavished 38 cents worth of stamps on the package.

Postal inspectors returned the package to the store, with a note that it needed only 18 cents in stamps. A checkup followed.

Curtis pleaded guilty to petit larceny Wednesday. Judge Perry Sellers sentenced him to 11 months and 29 days at the Shelby County Penal Farm.
