

UMT Program Compromise Seems Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — It appears virtually certain the country's youth will not be enrolled this year in a full Universal Military Training program.

This was evident Monday after the nation's top military leaders, once emphatically in favor of it, suggested a compromise plan in testimony before the House Armed Services Committee holding public hearings on the issue.

The military leaders asked essentially that 60,000 of the men subject to the growing draft this year be permitted to volunteer instead for a partial UMT. The purpose would be to get basic machinery oiled for the time, in the future, when full-scale UMT might be adopted.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House committee said Sunday it would be "relatively simple" to get UMT underway on a limited scale.

If Congress adopts the military proposal, he said in a statement, the Defense Department could get the program running within six months.

Opponents Launch Attack
Opponents of UMT begin testifying Tuesday when the committee resumes hearings.

The National Council against Conscription aimed a blast at the program Sunday. In a 40-page book let circulated to all members of Congress, it said the basic aim of UMT is militaristic dominance over the minds of the nation's young men.

NEARING THE CEILING—President Truman has warned Congress that without new taxes the federal treasury faces a "dangerous" deficit of eight billion dollars this fiscal year and nearly twice that amount next year. The Newschart above shows how, with such additions, the public debt threatens to break through its present legal ceiling of $275 billion. Sentiment in some quarters of Congress is for a reduction of that ceiling to $265, thus forcing a cutback of government spending. The debt now stands at $259,258,000,000.

The election year Congress is believed reluctant to pull the trigger on full UMT for two main reasons: the estimated initial cost of over four billion dollars and the controversial nature of UMT itself.

After a week of conferences, the financial experts from nine countries said this course must make income match out-go by the second half of this year and acknowledged it was only a beginning of a years-long search for solvency.

Their goal, they said, is to make the industrial, financial and economic structure of the British-led nations so strong that sterling currency again will be freely exchangeable for any money or any goods in the world "and to keep it so."

Such a permanent state of economic health has not prevailed in Britain since the first world war.

Immense amounts of help—in investments, loans and "active cooperation of other countries"—must come from unnamed countries overseas for a period of years to build this strength, said a communique closing the conference.

Giant Carriers, 2nd Nuclear Sub Sought In Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee introduced a bill Monday to authorize construction of the Navy's second nuclear-powered submarine.

The measure also includes authorization to build giant aircraft carriers—one up to 60,000 tons—capable of berthing atom bomb-carrying aircraft.

The bill would authorize construction and renovation costing approximately one billion 150 million dollars.

Vinson, in announcing the bill, said it would permit construction of 237,500 tons of combatant vessels.

This includes two aircraft carriers, four destroyers, four submarines, thirty minesweepers, three destroyer escorts, two refrigerated stores ships, two tankers and twenty-three landing ships.

Also proposed are 450 landing craft and 33 service craft of all types he said.

The measure also sets up a conversion program for 90,000 tons of combat vessels — two aircraft carriers of the Essex class, two light cruisers and six destroyer escorts.

Vinson said the second nuclear-
