

How to treat your telephone

The best way to spruce up your telephone is to polish it with a soft, dry cloth ... never with water or any other liquid. You'll find that it'll always be ready to serve you better, too, if you keep these simple pointers in mind: Avoid "gadget" attachments ... keep cords free of doorways and other places where they may be pinched ... and always keep water away from wires and fittings.

People have asked... "Why shouldn't you haul the other fellow's oil?"

One of the things people ask about Standard is why we do not let other oil companies use all of our tankers, marine terminals, and pipelines. They say, "Why shouldn't you haul the other fellow's oil?"

The answer to that question is that we're mighty busy hauling our own, meeting our regular obligations to our customers. Standard just can't share all of its transportation equipment with other companies. And it's unfair to ask us to do it. It's like asking you to let everybody else use your car.

You go out and buy a car for yourself and your familybig enough for your needs. So with Standard. We provide whatever facilities it takes to handle our own crude oil and keep delivering our own finished products where they're needed, when choice would be gone. It's as if you were to be forced to stop and pick up everybody who lifted a thumb at you whether or not you had room for him. We'd be required to carry anybody's oil in these thumbs a ride. You pick him up only if you want to. The choice is yours. So again with Standard. In our own pipelines within a state's borders, crossing only privately-owned land, and in our own tankers, we may choose to carry only our own oil.

In time, if your car were taken over like that, you'd have to buy another for your own use. Once again, so with Standard. If we were forced to carry competitors' oil, we'd have to buy or build additional facilities to handle our own. This would mean increased costs to us, higher prices to you.

When they're needed for national defense, of course, Standard is always among the first to make its private facilities available for public use. But we cannot do it as a general rule. We would lose the efficiency of operation we have achieved—a loss to you, our customers, as well as to ourselves. We don't believe you want it that way.
