FIT FOR A KING—AND ALL HIS WIVES—Employees of a hearse manufacturer near Cincinnati, O., try out one of the twenty, specially fitted Cadillacs being built as a gift for King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia by an American oil company. Each auto, outfitted at a cost of $12,500, will carry six of the King's wives (or former wives) in luxurious, secluded comfort. Special heating and cooling systems, one-way glass in windows, and a panel of red lights by which passengers direct the chauffeur, are among the fittings. The 72-year-old oil-rich monarch is limited by Moslem rules to four wives at a time, but he is said to be responsible for about 120 ex-wives.

On the other hand, the Justice Department, the head of the National Association of Manufacturers and an A.P.I. economist all urged stronger legislation. But they did not agree on the type of laws needed.

These viewpoints were expressed in reply to a questionnaire sent out by the subcommittee, which plans public hearings on Communism in labor early next month.

Red-Dominated Unions
Pose Federal Problem

WASHINGTON — Labor, management, and government officials agree something should be done about Communist-dominated unions but they can't get together on how to tackle the problem.

A Senate Labor subcommittee study made public Sunday said even labor leaders disagreed among themselves except on one point: Labor is slowly veering out Communism in its ranks, and wants no new laws in this field.

On the other hand, the Justice Department, the head of the National Association of Manufacturers and an A.P.I. economist all urged stronger legislation. But they did not agree on the type of laws needed.

CO-ED AT 76—Mrs. Virginia Fountain, 76-year-old grandmother, has entered Wayne University, Detroit, aiming at a college degree "if it doesn't take too long."

Mrs. Fountain entered the second grade at 53, after her husband died and her two children were "able to take care of themselves." The elderly co-ed plans to make the most of her college career. "After all," she says, "it's Leap Year and I might meet a nice college boy."

14-Ft. Mastodon Tusk
Found In Washington

PORT ANGELES — A huge tusk of a prehistoric mastodon has been found buried in a bluff overlooking Washington Harbor near Sequim on the Olympic Peninsula.

The tusk, 13 1/2 feet long, was found last week by a schoolboy, Teddy Blair. The youngster said he spotted the tip of it poking out through the gravel.

It was found 20 miles from the site where about one-fourth of the skeleton of another mastodon was unearthed two years ago. University of Washington anthropologists estimated the skeleton had been buried from 50,000 to 100,000 years.

The tusk discovered last week was more than twice as long as that of the earlier find. It was laboriously dug out by Reed McCarthy and David Burrows and taken to Sequim.
