

Oregon Granges Ask State Ban On Liquor Ads

SALEM (AP) — The Oregon Liquor Commission was asked by several county Granges Friday to ban all liquor advertising, but the Commission took no action on the request.

Seven county Granges—Hood River, Wasco, Clackamas, Jackson, Linn, Washington and Columbia—asked that liquor advertising be banned on grounds it promotes intemperance and crime and has a bad effect on youth.

The Commission said that Ore-gon's regulations on advertising are the most strict of any state. The state liquor law gives the Commission power to control, regulate or prohibit liquor advertising. The Commission has regulations which ban advertising that is false or misleading, appeals to children, shows persons drinking, suggests that athletes use liquor, or that is obscene or indecent.

Radio stations are allowed to carry liquor ads only from 8 p. m. to 1 a. m.

William A. Bingham, liquor administrator, said he expects every county Grange in the state to ask for the ban on liquor ads.

Bill's Defeat Recalled

Robert Elfstrom, Salem, chairman of the Commission, pointed out that at the November, 1950, election, the people overwhelmingly defeated a bill that would have banned the sale of liquor that is prominently advertised.

Bingham reported that the Commission would hold a hearing in Albany next Thursday to try to find out who sold the liquor to the youths who were involved in the fatal automobile accident near Lebanon last Saturday night. Four youths were killed and two were injured.

Bingham said he has a pretty good idea who sold the liquor. The seller could be punished by loss of his license, $500 fine and six months in jail.

Heroic 24th Inf. Of Korean War Sent To Japan

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The gallant 24th Infantry Division, first to fight and first to lose a man in the Korean War, has been taken out of combat and sent to Japan.

May Gen. William F. Dean — now a Red prisoner — led the division into the war in early July, 1950. It was withdrawn from the Central Front almost 20 months later.

In that time "The Old Professionals" had earned a Distinguished Unit Citation, six Medals of Honor and hundreds of other decorations.

Now on Japan's Honshu Island, the 24th together with the battle-seasoned U.S. First Cavalry Division, is charged with the defense of Japan.

The victory division's last shot in the Korean War was in Communist territory north of the 38th Parallel, south of Jungsong.

Elements of the 24th were flown to Korea from Japan on the last day of June, 1950. They made the first contact with the North Korean Reds near Osan early in July.

At 5 p. m. July 5, 1950, Pfc. Kenneth Shadrick of Wyoming, W. Va., was killed by a Korean Red machine gunner. He was the first American killed in the war.

When the 24th ended its Korean fighting, only two remained of those first handfuls of green soldiers who met the onrushing Reds in the dark days of July, 1950.

The others were dead, wounded or home on rotation.
