Basketball records being a dime a throw this season, let's skip past the cost market operated by John O'Brien for a moment and peek at the wares of some other Northwest collegiate point merchants.

Doug Logue of Willamette, for instance, chalked up a new record for his school with a total of 439 points for the season, and he can add to that in his state NAIB tournament.

Lowell Kolbaba, the Eastern Oregon College hotshot, piled in 538 points and this undoubtedly is an all-time record for EOC.

Bob Houbregs of Washington, pace setter in the Northern Division, could crack the all-time Division mark of 215 if he hits a hot streak to score 47 against WSC this week-end in a two-game series. Another Washington man, Jack Nichols, is the record holder.

Ralph Polson of Whitworth also is within striking distance of a mark. He has 556 for the season and his own school record, set last year, is 603.

The records of O'Brien, Seattle University Super Chief, stack up something like this: National point and free-throw totals for one season, West Coast career total, and Northwest single game and season records.

Little John needs only 30 points to become the first collegian in history to stack up 1,000 in a single season. He has two games Thursday and Friday against Portland U. and some possible tourney action in which to build up the count.

Although Houbregs leads his league, he ranks sixth in the Northwest with 436 points.

Jockey Bill Gilbert is now racing motors instead of horses. Gilbert is now with a Transportation Truck Company in the Army.

Digger Machine Ban Invalid, Judges Rule

PORTLAND (AP) — Three circuit judges Wednesday held that a city ordinance banning coin-operated digger machines is invalid.

Judges Martin W. Hawkins and James R. Bain held that the city cannot ban the machines because the state regulates them. They previously made a similar ruling on pinball machines.

Judge McCormac Snow ruled that the city did not show cause for designating the digger machine ban an emergency measure. This ruling was similar to an earlier circuit court opinion invalidating a ban on punch boards.

City Attorney Alexander G. Brown said he would recommend that the ruling be appealed. Ruling on pinball machines and punchboards now are under appeal.

The court test was brought by Raymond and Elsie Bowe, doing business as the Portland Crane Company.

Crooked Official Of Commerce Dept. Bounced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Sawyer has fired a $7,000-a-year official accused of "irregularities" in granting licenses to export critical materials.

In a letter commending the officials who investigated the case, Sawyer said the "deal involved admitted payments totaling $2,500." He also said an admission of guilt was obtained.

U.S. Atty. Charles M. Irelan said the case was turned over to him for investigation.

Irelan identified the dismissed official as Henry George Bennett, chief licensing officer for the Commerce Department's Office of International Trade. He had been with the agency for one year.

"If a crime has been committed we will present the case to the grand jury," Irelan said.

The Commerce Department said it has revoked all outstanding export licenses granted to a large New York exporting firm accused of making the $2,500 in payments.

Further, a spokesman said, proceedings will be brought to bar the firm from all export trade.

The Commerce Department declined an official announcement of the firm's name—or the fired official's name—pending Irelan's investigation.

WIND BLOWN

DENVER (AP) — A gust of wind helped J. M. Buirgy get a hole-in-one on the 110-yard seventh hole at Lakewood Country Club. The ball came to a stop against the flagpole which leaned against the front of the cup.

Then the breezes caught the flag and pulled the pole to the other side of the cup. The ball dropped for an ace.

Land Revenue Slated For Northwest, Alaska

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pacific Northwest states and Alaska will share in cash receipts from public lands within their borders in the year ending June 30, 1951.

The states will receive the money in lieu of taxes they might levy if the lands were privately owned. The lands are now under the Bureau of Land Management in the Department of Interior.

Secretary of Interior Chapman reported Monday Oregon will receive one of the largest allotments —$3,240,006. The money willgo directly to counties in the state. It was received principally from sale of timber on revested Oregon and California railroad grant lands.

Alaska will receive $2,876, Idaho $70,007 and Washington $16,659.
