SPOT ADVICE

ACID STAINS

There is one acid which is more frequently encountered in everyday activities than is generally realized.

That is sulfuric acid. The same acid that you find in automobile batteries. It is often brushed against. Working on the car, in the garage, sometimes in the garden or at home, your clothing is constantly exposed to it. Cuticle remover is a major source of acid stains.

Remember, nearly everything is either acid or alkaline. Acids will either harm the fabric or the dye in it, or both.

When a garment is stained with an acid fluid, particularly a sulfuric acid one, IMMEDIATELY RINSE OUT IN CLEAR WATER TO WHICH YOU'VE ADDED A LITTLE BAKING SODA. This will neutralize the acid and prevent any further action on its part. Then rinse out or sponge out with clear water.

This procedure is advised for all types of garments, wet washable and dry cleaning alike. Better to risk a slight spot than a hole!

Next, bring the garment in to be cleaned as soon as possible after staining. TELL US ABOUT THE STAIN.

That way we can take what remaining action might still be required and possibly prevent any further damage from occurring.

If the garment can be saved, we'll do so. Meantime, the above suggestion can serve you as an emergency measure. The sooner you neutralize the acid, the less risk you run of permanent damage.
