

Order Puts Ban On Duplication Of Facilities

WASHINGTON 12 — The Air Force has ordered the Alaskan Air Command to eliminate duplicating facilities planned for Eielson Air Force Base near Fairbanks, Alaska.

Brig. Gen. Robert E. L. Eaton, director of Air Force legislation and liaison, advised Rep. Norblad (R-Ore) of the order in a letter which the congressman made public Wednesday.

Norblad had complained that a personal inspection of the Eielson base indicated the Army and Air Force proposed to build identical chapels, non-commissioned officers clubs, enlisted men's clubs and other facilities directly across the street from each other.

He said the duplication was "a needless burden and cost to the taxpayers" and indicated that little was being done to unify and merge facilities of the three services.

In response, Eaton said: "The Alaskan Air Command has been instructed to revise this plan and eliminate this duplication."

ERROL FLYNN SUES MILLIONAIRE — Errol Flynn (left), American movie actor, holds a brace he claims he wore while recovering from a back injury received while making a movie in France. The brace is now figuring in Flynn's suit against Canadian millionaire Duncan McMartin, for $223,000 in a Nassau, Bahamas court. At right, McMartin, flanked by his lawyers, leaves court. Left to right it's Hon. A. F. Adderley, McMartin, Eugene Dupuch and Leonard Knowles. Flynn charges McMartin struck him in a bar in Nassau last year while he was still wearing the brace. Further injuries incurred, Flynn charges, caused him to lose a picture assignment. (AP WIREPHOTO)
