Ohioan Hired To Survey Oregon Teachers' Courts

PORTLAND (UP) — The State Board of Higher Education Wednesday named Dr. Earl W. Anderson of Ohio State University executive secretary and research director of the Oregon teacher education survey.

The survey was authorized by the board in January. Dr. Anderson will spend a week in Oregon in April, returning June 15 to complete the study. Viron A. Moore, acting chairman of the Survey Advisory Committee, said.

The State System of Higher Education now has three colleges assigned to elementary teacher education, with the University of Oregon and Oregon State College assigned secondary teacher education.
