STARTED MONDAY, A NEW MYSTERY in the I LOVE A MYSTERY serial, aired each week night, 10:00-10:15. The story of murder and blackmail is titled, "My Beloved is a Vampire." This is another of the fast-moving escapades, which are as commonplace as breathing to radio's adventurers, Jack Packard and Doc Long.

THE CISCO KID has water on the brain, or so the promotion Dept. says. He leads a helping hand to a rancher when some pesky neighbors attempt to divert a creek that supplies water to his land. One of the stars of this adventure has the intriguing name of "Mordib Jones." Tune in, 7:30 tonight for more details.

CHOIR CREDITS. The University of New Hampshire has proof that a school does not have to emphasize an athletic program to receive national acclaim. The Dean's office has advised Mutual-Don Lee that is has been flooded with mail from all parts of the country because of the recent broadcast by its concert choir series, until recently heard locally Saturday evenings.

MUSIC YOU WANT. beginning yesterday and continuing the rest of the week, 2:30 to 3:00, is presenting the complete opera of "La Boheme," by Puccini, starring Licia Albanese and Jan Peerce, with the NBC Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Maestro Arturo Toscanini. The setting is Paris and the time around 1830. Tomorrow, we will present Acts 2 and 3, with an all-star cast. One of the most popular of operas, don't miss this performance, for free.

Approximately 100 young people have joined the newly organized Pathfinder Club in Roseburg. Members range in age from 9 to 16 years. The objectives of the club are to provide interesting and profitable uses of leisure time through hobbies and other worth-while activities; to provide wholesome fun and recreation for its members and to develop characteristics which will make them useful and respected citizens.

The club will meet as a group every other week, and with the counselors on the alternating weeks to continue through the summer. Future plans include field trips, hiking and camping excursions, and crafts work. Among the crafts offered are: textile painting, photography, Junior Red Cross and First Aid, sewing, and others to be added later, among them possibly leathercraft and woodwork.

The club is under the guidance of senior Missionary Volunteers with junior members taking an active part. The leader is Mrs. Merlin Halsey; deputy leaders are Mr. Howard Young and Mr. Jack Whi the secretary-treasurer is Mrs. Alvin Paulson. Counselors are Eddie Griffin, Mr. Ray Clendenon, Mrs. Virgil Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Burrows, Mrs. Harold Graves, Mrs. Otis Marsh, and Mrs. Lewis Webb.

The Pathfinder Club is not local in scope, but a denominational feature. It is, however, the newest branch of the Missionary Volunteer organization. Progressive classwork, by which the junior reaches successive levels of achievement, was started nearly 30 years ago. In the Pathfinder Clubs it is given added zest and appeal to the juniors.
