you to get your boy back." Richter reported.
The caller warned Richter the boy's life would be in danger if police were notified, and gave him five minutes to verify the story. Richter quickly called the school, learned his son was gone, then decided to notify police. While Detectives M. H. Wiggins and E. A. Taunton were enroute to Richter's jewelry store, his phone rang again.
"He gave me instructions to take the jewels and money to a phone booth in the Ponce de Leon Hotel," Richter related. "I told him the most I could raise was about $15,000 in jewels and $200 in cash. He said that would do."
Richter went to the hotel and waited in the booth. A bellboy told him he was wanted on the phone at the desk and the same man who had called earlier told him to put the jewels and cash in a bag in a coin locker at the Greyhound bus station, place the key with a wad of chewing gum under the counter of a certain telephone booth, and leave.
Richter was still a step ahead of detectives who were being briefed at the store by his brother, Alvin Richter.
The father rushed to the bus station, placed the bag in a locker, and since the designated phone booth was being used, placed the key in another booth.
Officers Miss Quarry and Detectives reached the bus station as Richter left. While one watched the originally-designated booth, the other went back to the store to find the father.

Seven Students Jailed In Tumult After Election

SEATTLE (AP)—A post-election disturbance in which big midnight bonfires burned on the University of Washington's "Greek Row," sent seven students to jail early Friday. At least 400 men and women co-eds milled about the bonfires.
The students, all men, were booked on charges of disorderly conduct and bail was set at $100 each.
The disturbance began 10 minutes before midnight when the first fire was set. Another was started a half hour later; and a third one at 1:30 a.m. A dozen or more smaller fires were also set.
Earlier in the evening, the results of the Associated Students' election had been announced. A University Daily staff member and Journalism student, F. M. (Spud) Bunker, who had never before run for office, was elected president after colorful campaigning.
Half a dozen police prowler cars went to "Greek Row" to control the crowd which flocked out of fraternity and sorority houses. Nails and boards were scattered in the street.

N.Y. Democrats Offer Harriman For President

NEW YORK (AP)—W. Averell Harriman, mutual security administration director, was unanimously endorsed Friday by 45 New York state county chairmen as the state's candidate for the Democratic nomination for president.
Harriman's name will be recommended to the 94 New York delegates to the Democratic nominating convention at Chicago.

watched one phone booth, one of the extortionists slipped into the other, around a corner, and took the key.
When police reinforcements arrived, the key was gone, the locker was open and the key was in it, still sticky with chewing gum.
About the time Richter returned to his store, a puzzled doctor at the hospital called and asked if he had a son, Ricky. The boy was at the hospital and the cab driver was waiting for his fare.
Richter said the whole sequence of events took about an hour.

Truman Stirs Editors With Seizure Claim

American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE), many of whom were at the news conference ranged from cries of dictatorship to belief the answer was merely unfortunate.
Highlights of Truman's answers to other questions:
1. "I have tried my best to give the nation everything I had in me. There are a great many people that, probably a million people, who could have done the job better than I did it but I had the job and I had to do it and I always quote an epitaph on a tombstone in a cemetery in Tombstone, Ariz.: "Here lies Jack Williams. He done his damndest."
"I think that is the greatest epitaph a man can have."
(The President departed from custom by permitting the above to be quoted directly).
2. If the Russians really want peace, they would sign an Austrian peace treaty and agree to the U.S. plan for limitation of armaments.
3. The great mid-west floods could have been prevented if the Pick-Sloan flood control plan for the area had been put into effect.
Truman said governors of the flooded states had been dragging their feet for 25 years.
4. He laughingly knocked down a rumor he might teach history at the University of North Carolina after he retires. He said as an ex-president he would be glad to give the country the benefit of his experience, as ex-president Hoover has done.

Rebellion Breaks At Second N.J. Prison

born rebels are demanding the firing of the warden and a re-vamping of the parole system—69 convicts barricaded in the prison printing shop let one of their four prison employes - hostages go after he had a mild heart attack.
The Railway convicts hung huge bedsheet signs out the shattered windows Friday morning, with crude black lettering:
"We want a new parole system," one sign said. "Tell the truth, we have radios in here."
"The parole board isn't fair. We want a change."

A prison source said the embattled convicts listened to new broadcasts of the riots on tiny crystal set radios they fashioned out of magnetized steel and tin tobacco cans.

As a crisp spring dawn paled the searchlights trained on the massive stone walls of the dormitory wing, the prisoners inside set up a wild chorus of catcalls, jeers and whistles.

If your house was built before 1929

.. your wiring may not be adequate for 1951

The single drop-cord from the ceiling... an outlet in the kitchen... we all remember how little electricity was used for lighting or labor-saving in 1929. And the wiring was planned for this limited use. Today, in 1951, the picture has changed. Better lighting, labor-saving appliances, new conveniences, and comforts... even your entertainment is now electrical. More are being added every day. These additions demand more outlets, more circuits, and heavier wire to bring all this extra electricity into your home. When you build or remodel... be sure the plans include wiring that is adequate... for 1951.
