Compare Prices Before You Buy!

There are many building supply bargain temptations being offered today. Don't be misled by these so called bargains! Inspect the materials, listen to the sales talks with an analytical mind but don't buy until you have compared prices with your own local building material supplier. Upon comparing quality, prices, installation costs, you will find, in most instances, that your local dealers give you more for your building dollar than the glib salesman that calls at your door. And, most important, your local dealer will be here in Roseburg tomorrow to back up his guarantee of today.

We don't care from whom you buy your building materials, but we are interested in your own satisfaction. Local businesses are built on a history of satisfied customers and unflinching service. If you are solicited by a salesman knocking at your door, ascertain if that person is from a reputable Roseburg firm before buying his wares. A phone call to any of these listed firms will confirm the reliability of the salesman at your door. Don't be misled! All salesmen are not salesmen representing reliable and reputable Roseburg firms. Be sure of your supplier, the materials, the workmanship and the comparative prices before buying. Do this to insure your own satisfaction.
