Job's Daughters' Listing In Drill Points Explained

What happened to Roseburg's Job's Daughters' drill team in Saturday afternoon's state convention competition? This has been asked by many visiting delegates and local people who wondered why no recognition was given this team.
A check with the three judges by Mrs. A. J. Ellison, guardian of Bethel No. 8, reveals that the Roseburg team actually polled a total of 490 points, third highest of any entry.
The Roseburg team was entered in the novelty grouping, but the judges felt it should have been under exhibition grouping, which included drill formations and a marching step. Its drill was a folk dance, and the Bethel felt that dance steps would have eliminated them from the exhibition class.
The other three teams in the novelty grouping received 486 2/3, 486 and 483 points, respectively. In total points, Portland Bethel No. 1, Class A exhibition, had 498 points, and Portland Bethel No. 24, Class B novelty, had 493 points with Roseburg Class A third with 490.
Through a misunderstanding, said Mrs. Ellison, the judges did not know the audience was not given their entire report, following the contest Saturday afternoon. It was merely announced that the Roseburg team was not considered in the competition.
The judges expressed the opinion that the Roseburg team members should receive highest praise and commendation for their performance, even though they could not take the blue ribbon in the group in which they were entered.

Eisenhower Gets Nod In N.Y., Pennsylvania

New York and the Pennsylvania preferential had only Eisenhower and Stassen listed on the ballot.
None of the convention delegates picked in both states was instructed to vote for any candidate for presidential nomination.
Kefauver Also Wins
Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee got the bulk of the write-ins in the Pennsylvania popularity poll—81,442 from 7,839 of the 8,421 precincts. President Truman was second with 21,358, followed by Eisenhower with 17,712.
Even so, Kefauver had no guarantee of any of the 70 Democratic delegates from Pennsylvania.
Pledges to support the popular choice, signed by many delegate candidates, are not binding.
W. Averill Harriman, Mutual Security director, had most of New York's 94-vote Democratic delegation sewed up.
Harriman, "favorite son" candidate until he launched his nationwide bid Tuesday, is endorsed by 45 of the state's 62 Democratic county chairmen.
Other political developments: Herbert Brownell Jr., former GOP national committee chairman, joined the Eisenhower organization.
His job: To work for delegate support at the Chicago convention in July.
Eisenhower was quoted as saying the government's answer to excessive control "is more control" and that there has been federal "abuse of the taxing power."
Sen. Carlson of Kansas, an Eisenhower backer, said the general made the statements in a recent letter to a friend.

government," he went on, "but how about these lavish expense accounts, their entertainment accounts, their hotel and lobby accounts?"
By claiming such expenses as costs deductible from taxable income, Morse declared, American business is conducting a "lavish, unwarranted expenditure of the taxpayer's money" and "they" are now "working for a federal sales tax to put the burden of all this on the common people of America."
President Truman meanwhile stuck to his guns in his seizure of the steel industry despite a House member's proposal to impeach him, and other attacks from Congress.
A powerful Senate drive to force him to cancel the seizure order fell just short of the two-thirds majority vote it required Tuesday.
But its Republican backers led by Sen. Knowland of California redoubled their cries of "dictator" and cast about for other devices.
Actually 47 senators, 11 of them Democrats, voted for the move, and only 29 voted against it. Not a Republican voted "no." A switch of four votes would have provided the two-thirds margin needed to suspend Senate rules and permit action on Knowland's proposal to forbid the use of any federal funds in the seizure.
The Senate already had voted Monday, 44 to 31, to ban the use of any money in a specific appropriation bill to carry out the order, but its backers said this was only a gesture.

Cargo Service Airlines' Pride

Pride of the Alaska Airlines, Inc., is its "Alaska Airlift," a cargo service, reports Don V. Churchward, district sales manager, who was a business visitor in Roseburg Tuesday.
Churchward is making a get-acquainted tour over the Oregon territory, having recently been assigned to the Portland office. The airline started passenger and cargo service out of Portland last November, making direct flights to Fairbanks and Anchorage, from which points it operates intra-Alaskan services.
In addition to daily passenger schedules, the line operates two or three exclusive cargo flights from Portland weekly, Churchward reports.
The plane service, he says, is widely used by contractors shipping plumbing and heating supplies, prefabricated building materials, electrical supplies and other such goods. Cargoes also include a large tonnage of perishable foods, particularly meat and poultry. Another big item is baby chicks. More than 150 shippers in Oregon and northern California now are using the Portland facilities, Churchward says.
