Freed Prison Guard Tells Of 5-Day Ordeal

We prayed and we tried to get ready to die.

But these men were different from the others; they knew exactly what they were doing. Apparently they were a raiding crew sent out to gather guards for hostages because they herded us in with others they already had.

Then they marched us on through that cellblock, through block 3, and through a couple of other blocks, always looking for more guards.

Finally they met another crew and we (the guards) were assembled together and driven on to 15 block . . . and worked us inside.

Fire And Shooting

Outside we could hear the cries of the mob. Someone said the laundry was burning, and the gym, and I don't know what else.

The screams and sirens of fire trucks suddenly wailed over the noise in the yard. You could see the inmates who were holding us tighten up. They stood tense and forward, peering out the window, and in a short time came the sound of shots.

Then the yard seemed to break up in a mad frenzy all around us. It seemed that one of the convicts had been shot by state police and the mob moved down on 15 block.

"Give us a guard," they screamed. "One of our boys has been shot. Kill a guard."

The convicts with us argued but the mob only shouted the louder and finally someone shrugged and said, "what else can we do?"

They caught one of Henry Curry, opened the door and threw him out. We couldn't bear to look, yet we couldn't tear our eyes away. And can I say right now, thank God for our state police.

Their squads were operating in the yards by now and there never was a more alert group of men.

They must have been on the watch for something just like what happened, for the minute they saw Curry pushed outside they made a drive outside 15 block.

And that was all it took. The mob broke and ran and Henry got away safely.

Treated Nicely

I can't tell you much of what happened in the yards after that. They herded us right on us to the fourth tier. They put each of us in a separate cell. Jack Hyatt was in charge of our floor.

They call him "Crazy Jack." But you'll never get me to believe he's crazy. He treated us fine, and he handled those other guys with him like someone who had commanded men all his life.

Through all the time we were there, every so often he'd have to go out and stop a fight or put down some minor disturbance among his followers.

The last night they came around and took Jim Akins' and John

Mrs. Anita Ford Passes Suddenly In California

Word has been received by Henry D. Ford, operator of Ford's north of Canyonville, of the death of his mother, Mrs. John (Anita) Ford, at Santa Monica, Calif. Henry Ford left for California after receiving word of the death.

Mrs. Ford passed away suddenly Thursday of a heart attack, the information stated.

The Fords came to Canyonville in 1928 and opened the business, which has become well known as an eating place. Two years ago they turned the business over to their son, and left for California.

Mrs. Ford was born in Los Angeles in 1884. Her husband, John H., son Henry D., and two grandchildren survive.

Holmes' billfolds, watches and keys.

Hyatt told us: "If you've got any last letters to write, you'd better do it now because you won't get another chance."

Hyatt was perfectly calm as he spoke. After he left I started praying again.

It was only a couple of hours later that the agreement was reached between the prison administration and the inmates.

We were let out of the cells finally and taken downstairs to the office.

Steak Dinner Served

Ward (Earl Ward, a mutiny leader) had us all sit down and very formally he told us of the arrangements that had been made for the surrender.

When he finished, he invited all of us guards to join him and the prisoners in their steak dinner.

We, of course, accepted immediately. But when they marched us out, as soon as we were all clear of 15 block, we stepped out of the line and let them go on to the dining room alone.

I don't think I could have drunk a cup of coffee then, let alone eat a piece of steak.

I lost 20 pounds in those four days I was locked in 15 block and I didn't have my clothes off in all that time. I can only say, thank God I'm alive.

Referendum Sought On New Truck Rules

enactment. The bill set up truck length and weight limits and gave counties the right to issue permits to trucks exceeding the specifications, Davis said.

Before the new county truck regulations were adopted, however, two suits had been filed in Circuit Court attacking the old regulations as "discriminatory" and "unlawful."

One of the suits had been filed by Laney, a member of the newly-formed referendum committee. In it he sought to enjoin the county from enforcing the old regulations.

A. L. Paulson, Idlewild Route, a log truck operator, is plaintiff in the other suit—an action for recovery of the five dollars he paid for his log hauling permit. The county's new regulations continue the five-dollar fee as an "administrative and enforcement" charge.

Should the required number of signatures for the initiative petitions be filed the new regulations would not be effective unless approved at the polls in November. Meanwhile the county would revert to the old regulations and action could continue on the two suits against the regulations.
