lie in prevention of fire, pointing out the losses occurring from preventable fires.

In conclusion he commended Douglas County on its recreational program, particularly its Park Department and promised full cooperation of the company in development projects.

The program was ably conducted by M. A. Smith, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and Lloyd Richardson, president.

The latter talked briefly on community projects and urged cooperation of all residents in improvement and development work.

Essays Given Prizes

Prizes were presented to winners of the school essay contest in which pupils wrote on Douglas County's natural resources. Grade school winners were Jimmy McDonald, Charlotte Andrews and Faye Shirliff. High school winners were Kate Waddell and Robert Ryan.

During the banquet the audience was entertained by an orchestra, with vocal selections by the Eastern Star trio, Georgia Henderson, Aline Peterson, Ruby Taylor, and Jane Bennett, accompanist, as a special feature.

The first citizen awards were held until the last of the meeting when M. O. Kily broke the seals on the announcements from the secret committee named to select the winners from nominations submitted by residents. Engraved certificates were presented Mrs. Burlington for her work with church and youth groups, and to Frank Taylor for civic activities.

Fact and Fiction About Diamonds

So many different claims are made about diamonds that it's no wonder you might be confused. You want to make a lifetime investment. You HOPE for the most value for your money. But how can you be sure?

Can You Be Sure?

There are three vital things to keep in mind when you shop for a diamond ring.

1. Know the quality of the diamond you choose. Remember, four factors—not one or two—play an important part in determining the value of a diamond—color, clarity, cut and carat weight. Only an expert is able to judge these qualities in any diamond.
2. Know the reputation of the ringmaker and the jeweler you buy from. The good name of your jeweler, plus the name of a famous ringmaker, is double assurance of best value for your money.

All three of these important safeguards are present when you choose a nationally advertised Artcarved diamond ring, made by a firm known and trusted for more than 100 years.

100 Years of Experience

Artcarved diamonds are registered for your protection, and doubly guaranteed—by America's leading ringmaker and by us. Each one is a new diamond—meeting high Artcarved standards for color, clarity, cut and carat weight. Each one is marked with the Artcarved quality mark, so you will know positively that you are buying a fine diamond of guaranteed quality and value. Our collection of nationally advertised Artcarved diamond rings ranges from $75 to $5000.

Guarantee Is Your Protection

3. You should insist that your diamond ring be backed by a full, written guarantee specifying the quality of your diamond. The Artcarved guarantee offers you the most complete protection available for any diamond ring. It is the valued bond of a world-famous diamond firm, whose reputation is unsurpassed in the jewelry industry.

Terms arranged. We will be happy to show you Artcarved rings at your convenience, and without obligation.
