

Britain Starts First Journey By Jet Airliner

LONDON — Britain's sensational new 500-mile-an-hour comet airliner whooshed off for South Africa Friday, inaugurating the jet age of commercial air travel.

The flight gave Britain an estimated four-year jump on other nations in jet liner service.

The sleek blue and white, four-engine jet liner, carrying a full load of 35 paying passengers, a crew of six and 30 bags of mail, left London airport at 3:14 p.m.

With stops at Rome, Beirut, Khartoum in the Sudan, Entebbe in Uganda and Livingston in Rhodesia, it is due at Johannesburg in 23 hours and 40 minutes, slicing about one-third from the present commercial air travel time for the 6,724-mile trip.

The Comet, powered by four De Havilland "ghost" jet engines, will cruise at around 450 to 500 miles an hour at an average altitude of eight miles. It will fly above most weather, reducing vibration and air "bumps" to a minimum.

Passenger fares for the new jet service were unchanged from the normal one-way charge of 175 pounds ($490).

U.S. Buys More Pork To Boost Hog Prices

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department bought an additional 13,700,000 pounds of pork products Wednesday in an effort to boost hog prices.

Last week the agency purchased about 12 million pounds. Additional quantities will be bought next week.

The pork will be distributed later among schools participating in a government-sponsored lunch program.

HOW TO GROW 'EM

Men, ask Frank Hadley of Brockway, above, the art of growing whiskers, if you have difficulty sprouting them. Hadley has been at it since February. He typifies what visitors to Roseburg will be seeing on the streets, come next summer. The official beard growing contest for Labor Day weekend's Centennial celebration is now underway, but the bearded men won't be penalized until August. As he appears now, Hadley will be a candidate for an award among the hairy ones. (Picture by Clark's)

He now holds the rank of airman apprentice. Updegraff was a senior at Roseburg High School when he enlisted Dec. 30. He took his initial training at the San Diego Naval Training Center.

All 50 Aboard Crashed Plane Regarded Dead

BELEM, Brazil — Aerial rescue teams reported Thursday night a luxurious Pan-American airliner apparently was burning even before it crashed Tuesday in dense Brazilian jungle.

Their leaders wrote off as dead all 50 persons the plane carried. Observers with powerful glasses circled the wreckage at low altitude and offered the opinion the plane — named the Clipper Good Hope — had exploded at low altitude.

Plastering Is Completed In Camas Valley

The interior plastering has been completed in the new four room addition to the Camas Valley School, and all the windows are placed. The exterior of the addition has been given a base coat of plaster. Also, the cabinets and teacher's closets are being installed in the new rooms, as well as the black boards and bulletin boards. All the new doors are hung, but the hardware has not arrived yet.

The exterior of the garage and shop is almost finished, and, according to Superintendent Marlen Yoder, it is planned to roof this building this week. Three windows have been cut through into the gym from the new halls on either side of the gym, thus making more room for spectators at games. The old upper windows in the gym have been filled in with cinder block and plastered.

At the board meeting Saturday night the Camas Valley School Board decided to have the painters repaint the little school which houses the first and second grades, while they are out here painting the new addition.

BASEBALL'S "LITTLE COLONEL"

Pee Wee Reese, who captained the Brooklyn Dodgers baseball team, became a radio star; effective last Saturday, 5:45 to 6:00, and may be heard each Saturday afternoon at this time. Aided by newsmen Frank Singiser, he plans to relate anecdotes and behind-the-scenes tidbits about baseball's greats. He will base his programs on his many years' experiences as one of the diamond's most popular players. His nickname does not indicate his size; he was dubbed this while competing in a youngsters' marble shoot, and is one of the youngest veterans in major league play today. He was just 19 when he broke into major league baseball, and has been there ever since, some twelve years.

FAMILY THEATER dates drama titled, "The Visitor." The story, written by Hugh O'Sullivan, relates what happened when a flying disc, from another planet, lands in the southwestern U.S., and a reporter with an exclusive on
