

MISS JEANNE MADDOX, above, received many flowers and the congratulations of a large number of friends, when she recently presented 51 dance students in recital at the Astoria Armory. The entertainment will be repeated in Seaside, May 31.

There were 900 in the audience at the Astoria armory Sunday evening, April 20, when Jeanne Maddox, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. (Dick) Maddox, presented her dance pupils in recital.

All of the costumes were designed by Miss Maddox and were reported to be most beautiful. She presented 51 pupils in the recital. The recital proved such a success, that it will be repeated May 31st in the Central High School in Seaside, where the Miss Oregon pageant is held annually. B. R. Maddox acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the program numbers in story form. At the close of the program, flowers were presented to Miss Maddox.

The first part of the recital included the following numbers: The Kingdom of Sweets, Sugar Sticks, Tea From China, Coffee From Arabia; Crystallized Flowers; Waltzing Kittens starring the Baby Ballerinas; Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy; Chiapanecas and The Syncopated Clock.

The second part of the program was a ballet, "The Sea Nymph" in two acts. Closing numbers included: The Milk Maid, Belles of the Ball and Pas de Deux. The last number was presented by Jocelyn Maddox, sister of Jeanne. The Maddox family is well-known in Roseburg, having formerly made their home here. Jeanne is the granddaughter of Mrs. B. W. Maddox of this city. She is a talented pianist and vocalist as well as a very fine dancer.

Hull-McPherson Wedding Is Of Interest Here

A wedding of interest in Roseburg occurred in Pendleton Easter Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church, when Miss Patricia McPherson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William N. McPherson of Pendleton became the bride of Clarence Hull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Hull of Powers, Ore. The bridegroom was formerly with the News-Review advertising department prior to going to Pendleton to work for the East Oregonian.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle with close fitting bodice, round collar and three-tier skirt with train. Her three-quarter length veil fell from a tiara and she carried white orchids with satin ribbons.

The attendants, Mrs. Frederick Merritt Jr., matron of honor; Miss Ella Campbell, Miss Alvina Campbell and Mrs. Keith Smith, bridesmaids, wore yellow organdy gowns fashioned ankle length with short sleeves. They carried nosegays of violets and yellow rosebuds and wore headresses of yellow organdy and yellow rosebuds. Robert Hull, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and ushers were Donald Hull, brother of the bridegroom; James Turk (formerly advertising manager of the News-Review and now employed by the East Oregonian), and James Enbysk.

Preceding the ceremony Charles Baker sang, "Because" and the "Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Harry Brawn, who also played the wedding marches.

Carrying out the springtime theme of yellow and white, the church was effectively decorated with tall baskets of snapdragons, calla lilies and stock used with tapers in tall torchieres.

The same color-scheme was carried out for the reception decorations. The reception took place in the social hall of the church.

Mother of the bride and mother of the bridegroom both wore ensembles of blue with corsages of roses. Following a wedding trip to coast points, Mr. and Mrs. Hull are now at home to their friends in the McNees Apartments in Pendleton. For traveling the bride chose a suit of pink wool with a pink hat and an orchid corsage.
