ANSWERED IN CHINESE

Demands Of Red POW Spokesman After Riot Meet Jarring Response

KOJE ISLAND, Korea (AP) — A Chinese prisoner was killed by an Allied guard Saturday in the third prisoner of war incident reported in a four-day span on this riot-ridden rock.

The other two occurred at a woman's POW camp and a prisoner hospital.

The shooting of the Chinese prisoner — announced only Wednesday — was the first fatality reported from the tough Kojie stockade since Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner took command a week ago.

Boatner said a preliminary investigation indicated the prisoner was shot when he resisted search on his return from a work detail outside an enclosure holding 5,000 Chinese Communists.

Boatner said he conferred with a prisoner spokesman, Maj. Wei Ling, shortly after the shooting.

On the camp commander's order Wei returned to the barred wire enclosure and within 35 minutes halted a demonstration begun by Chinese POWs within minutes after the shooting.

Red Demands Rebuffed

Boatner said Wei and 11 other prisoners were permitted to visit the cemetery where the slain Chinese was buried.

Wei made a "lot of demands that had no reference to the incident," Boatner told a news conference.

The American general added: "I answered him in Chinese and his teeth almost fell out. I told him I could make no statements until an investigation had been completed."

Boatner said he had been told that 400 prisoners had been brought to Kojie Tuesday from the POW enclosure near Pusan where Allied guards quelled rioting prisoners.

The U.S. Eighth Army at Seoul said combat-wise American infantrymen used concussion grenades and a shower of force to put down violence Tuesday at the Pusan POW hospital.

The Army said the Red rioters were armed with makeshift spears, barbed wire flails, rocks and similar weapons.

55 POWs Injured

One prisoner was killed in the vicious fighting at the hospital in Camp No. 10.

The Army did not say how he died, but correspondents in Pusan said he may have been bayoneted.

Eighty-five POWs were injured. Half their injuries were minor. One American guard suffered a minor injury.

The Army said segregation of prisoner orderlies from prisoner patients, which touched off the out-

Logs Hits Car, Killing One Man, Injuring Three

SWEET HOME (AP) — One man was killed and three critically injured Tuesday when a car was crushed under a log which rolled off a truck.

Dead is Oliver D. Goodman, 23, Lebanon. The injured are Arthur Starr, Wilmer and William Cooper, also of Lebanon.

A 13-foot log rolled off a truck driven by Selmer Norlyn Brown of Sweet Home onto the Goodmans as the two vehicles were passing through a stretch of highway known as "The Narrows" in the Santiam River Canyon.

Weighmaster Robert Wyatt, Albany, said Brown's log, even without the log that struck the Goodman car, was 3,700 pounds over the maximum allowed.

Brown was cited for driving with a shifting load.

Boy, 15, Facing Life Term For Slaying Girl

EUGENE (AP) — A 15-year-old boy, convicted Tuesday of first degree murder, will be sentenced here Friday. Life imprisonment is mandatory.

The boy, Elmer Harlan Belcher, was found guilty of the April 4 gun shot slaying of Marie Campbell, an 18-year-old deaf mute.

A circuit court jury deliberated the case four hours before returning the verdict which also carried a recommendation for leniency.

The boy, a neighbor of the Campbells who live on a farm near Cottage Grove, was arrested two days after the shooting.

He admitted he shot the girl because his school friends had taunted him about her pregnancy, District Attorney C. E. Luckey said.

Senate OKs McGranery By 52-18 Vote

Future Attorney General Of U.S. Says He'll Bare, Prosecute Corruption

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lop-sided Senate vote cleared the way for James P. McGranery to walk into the Justice Department Wednesday and take over as the boss.

By a 52 to 18 vote, the Senate Tuesday night confirmed President Truman's nomination of the 56-year-old Philadelphia jurist to succeed J. Howard McGrath as attorney general.

All the votes against the appointment were cast by Republicans, but 14 other Republicans joined 38 Democrats in voting for confirmation.

Pennsylvania's two Republican senators, Duff and Martin, were among those voting approval.

McGranery, a former House member, has been a federal judge in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania since 1946.

During the war he served as the No. 2 official in the Justice Department, as assistant to the attorney general.

Truman sent McGranery's nomination to the Senate last April 3 in a lightning aftermath to McGrath's resignation after firing Newbold Morris as government clean-up man.

McGranery told the Senate Judiciary Committee he would expose and prosecute corruption wherever he found it.

He also pledged to fire any incompetent, disloyal or dishonest Justice Department employees.

Sens. Ferguson (R-Mich.) and Watkins (R-Utah), who led the fight against McGranery, said they did not believe his performance would match his promise.

Damages For Wronged Wife Aim Of British Bar

LONDON (AP) — The British legal profession said Wednesday that a woman who pays "her" the woman who pays "her" should be made a part of the divorce law.

The General Council of the British bar declared that a wronged wife should have the right to cash damages from the other woman, just as a husband collects under present law from the other man.

The council presented its views in a memorandum to a Royal commission considering possible changes in the British divorce statutes.

Pulchritude Too Much For Veteran Sea Tug

WILMINGTON, Calif. (AP) — Old tug No. 10 was a real touch and harbor-worthy vessel. It had hauled in some pretty big ships in its day.

Last Monday, however, No. 10, was cast in a new role—towing a floating barge for a style show, with a score of cuties traipsing the deck as they modelled swim suits, and bra and panty sets.

This was just too much for old No. 10. After getting back to its dock it capsized and sank Tuesday.

"Too much pulchritude," said an old salt, pronouncing the third word very carefully.

12 Of Stay-Down Fliers Dismissed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twelve of the 14 Reserve Air Officers who refused to fly are being dismissed under honorable conditions and without court martial.

The Air Force said Tuesday the 12 men will be relieved of their commissions by administrative action because their cases had not reached the formal court martial stage.

Two other officers were convicted by court martial. However, First Lt. Verne Goodwin of Peabody, Mass., was allowed to resign and his sentence was cancelled.

Capt. Carl J. Izard of Hazelhurst, Miss., was sentenced to dishonorable dismissal but his case is being reviewed by top officials.

Ten of the 14 saw combat duty during World War II. Ten were involuntarily recalled to active duty and four volunteered. Only two drew pay for reserve activities prior to recall.

They were stationed at Randolph Air Force Base, Texas, and Mather Base, California.

Ex-Governor West, 79, Voices Political Hope

PORTLAND (AP) — Oswald West, former governor of Oregon, celebrated his 79th birthday here Tuesday.

West, a Democrat, was governor from 1911 to 1915. He has maintained a keen interest in politics and had this to say of the present presidential race:

"If God still reigns, and wishes to preserve this government from crooks and wastrels, He will direct the Republicans to nominate Eisenhower and the Democrats Kefauver and will leave them free to select their own running mates."

Panty Raids Hit 2 More Colleges

By The Associated Press

Youths at the University of Washington and Washington State College joined the latest college fad Tuesday night.

At the University, an estimated 1,000 smashed windows and did minor damage in panty raids in a women's residence hall and six dormitories.

At Washington State, about 250 men invaded five women's living quarters.

Pullman Police Chief Archie Campbell said little damage was done, but two State Police were called in to help Pullman and campus police disperse the crowd.

Policemen in at least 20 squad cars in the vicinity of the raids at the University did not enter the fray. One policeman said the officers were reluctant to leave their cars because they feared the gang would damage vehicles.

A member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority aimed a lusty swing with a baseball bat at one youth. He ducked and the coed demolished a window on the follow through.

Tax Relief Vote Reacts On Congress

Members Being Needed By Home-Town Folks Who 'Misunderstand'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional feelings were showing lumps Wednesday from the home-town needing a lot of lawmakers are getting for voting themselves income tax relief.

In a word, the reaction on Capitol Hill might be summed up as: "Yow-w-w!"

Most House members were reluctant to stick their necks out so touchy an issue. But privately they feel they have been badly misunderstood in voting to make their expenses, while away from home, deductible as business expense for tax purposes.

It's no more than everyone else is allowed, they contend. They have to keep up two homes, one here and one back in their congressional district. And they have to travel back and forth on their constituents' business, they say.

Bureau Ruling Cited

The Internal Revenue Bureau has ruled in effect that a member of Congress has two homes for tax purposes—in other words, he's never away from home on business.

That's not fair, complained Rep. Steed (D-Okla.), adding:

"What the average member of Congress seeks is only to put himself on a footing of equality with other taxpayers. A lot of my constituents don't even know I pay heavy income taxes, and I can't even claim legitimate expenses as a deduction."

Congressmen now get $12,500 a year, plus a $2,500 tax-exempt allowance. However, Congress voted to make the $2,500 allowance taxable effective Jan. 1.

California Snag Faced By Kefauver

Senator Finds Opponent With Truman Blessing; Votes Present Problem

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Kefauver, opening a drive for California's 68 delegates to the Democratic convention, ran into tough opposition right from the start Wednesday.

In Washington the head of a rival slate, State Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown, told reporters President Truman had authorized him to say that the President hopes Brown's slate will win over Kefauver's in the June 3 primary.

Brown conferred with the President Wednesday morning.

Kefauver said he had no comment but would have something to say at a press conference later Wednesday.

Newsmen asked the White House office to check the President on Brown's statement to them and Irving Perlmutter, assistant press secretary, later reported:

"The President wished the Brown delegation good luck, but intended no implications about Kefauver."

The delegate slate pledged to favorite-son Brown originally was the President's but was left without an active candidate for the Democratic nomination when the President decided not to run for another term.

It was organized by Rep. Shephard, senior California Democratic congressman.

Vital Questions Faced

Other problems facing Kefauver at his press conference were these:

Why did he vote for the Arizona water project?

Why did he support the federal tidelands bill?

Both are hot political items in California.

The state is seeking to stop a move on Arizona's part to get a larger share of Colorado River water, to which California contends it has prior rights.

It also is backing the so-called tidelands bill, which would give seashore states the right to oil revenues from lands three miles from shore.

The bill, passed by both Houses, was vetoed by the President, who contends the federal government is entitled to the revenue.

Kefauver, flying in from Washington, found James Roosevelt, the late president's eldest son, in his car.

Roosevelt sparked a Democrats for Eisenhower move against Truman four years ago, then shifted to Truman when Eisenhower was unavailable.

Patient Should Be Told Of Cancer, Doctor Says

CLEVELAND (AP) — Should a doctor tell a patient he has cancer, if the physician is asked the question?

Dr. John W. Cline of San Francisco, president of the American Medical Association, says yes.

At the annual meeting of the Ohio State Medical Association Tuesday night, Dr. Cline was queried on whether the physician should always tell the patient the truth.

"If the patient puts you on the spot," he answered, "you have no right to lie to him, even if he asks you 'do I have cancer?'"

Boys Find $2,180 Floating On Pool

PORTLAND (AP) — Three boys saw a strange looking object floating on a shallow pool here Tuesday. They fished it out and found it contained $2,180 in currency.

The money had been wrapped in paper, sealed in a glass jar and then wrapped in a water-tight container made of an old inner tube.

The boys, Lynn Hill, 7; Myron Whitcomb, 9; and Melvin Weaver, 11, divided the money and went home. The mother of one of the boys reported the find to the sheriff's office.

The money was thought to have belonged to James Stevens, 71, who died three months ago in a nearby shack. Stevens, a recluse, had told neighbors before he died that he had saved enough money to return to his native Russia. A search of his house shortly after his death turned up $327 hidden in envelopes and a tobacco can.

Rain shortened the seasonal debut of the straw hat, but it probably spurred the growth of 'spinach' displayed these days on the faces of Centennial-minded males.
