MOTHERS INVITED TO TEA FRIDAY AT FULLERTON SCHOOL

Invitations are out inviting all mothers who have children entering the first grade at Fullerton school in the fall to a tea to be given at the school on Friday, May 23, between the hours of 1 and 2:45 in the afternoon.

This is an annual event and promises to be one of the most enjoyable as well as worthwhile affairs to be sponsored by the Fullerton Parent-Teacher Association this year, according to advance information supplied by Mrs. Chester Hamm, who is in charge of arrangements for the occasion.

A program has been planned specially to introduce youngsters to school atmosphere, and to acquaint their mothers with the preparation which they and their children should make for that eventful day which is marked by the opening of school in September.

Mrs. Bernard Young, PTA president, has indicated that there will be further announcements about the outstanding features which will mark Fullerton's pre-school tea this year.

Mrs. Harold Backen Jr. is in charge of refreshments and arranging the tea table.

When the custom of holding a tea for mothers of pre-schoolers was inaugurated, Mrs. Dorothy Kitchen, school nurse, and John Lucas, director of special education, felt that it was indeed an opportunity for mothers, children and teachers to become acquainted and to bridge the gap between home and school so that starting the first grade would be easier for all concerned.

Mrs. Young and her committees have been in consultation with the school principal, Lyle Eddy, and with the three first grade teachers, Mrs. Edna Matthews, Mrs. Bonita Wilcox and Mrs. Goldie Davidson in working out arrangements, with a view to making this a most profitable afternoon.

Officers installed for the year were: President, Ethelmae Wilson; Vice President, Barbara Smith; secretary treasurer, Beverly Nordquist; Gardenia corsages, sprayed with green and blue and silver, were presented to the new officers and Dr. Carlson, by Joy Augustus, on behalf of the group.

Prom Sees Cinderella Story

SHE TOILS CEASELESSLY . . . For days before the annual high school prom, "Cinderella," at bottom (whom some would identify as Rena Van Horn, a junior) works hard on prom decorations . . .

SHE MOPS HER BROW . . . As the work becomes harder and seemingly endless, "Cinderella," clad in jeans and sweat shirt, cleans up after the decorations committee . . .

SHE'S QUEEN OF 'EM ALL . . . As the big evening arrives "Cinderella" is there, too, and during the evening, finds, to her surprise, she's queen of the prom . . .

AT THE STROKE OF MIDNIGHT she trips lightly across the bridge into the night — and strangely her "carriage" didn't turn into a pumpkin, but that doesn't spoil the story one bit. (Staff pictures)
