Bandon Millers Will Play Chiefs On Weekend Card

The undefeated Bandon Millers, with Ad Liska in the vanguard, will move into Roseburg this weekend for a Saturday night and Sunday afternoon tilt with the Chiefs on Finlay Field.

This should be one of the stiffest battles in the Southwestern Oregon campaigns. The Millers are definitely "loaded." Apparently a big share of their strength comes with one of the best pitching staffs in the League.

At the top of the list is aged Ad Liska, who apparently still has some of the stuff that paced him to 198 wins in the Pacific Coast League. He was one of the top drawing cards for the Portland Beavers for a number of years with his odd side-arm pitching delivery which tabbed him the Submariner.

Additional strength to the staff comes with Bill Hanauka, who had the choice of Drain or Bandon and picked Bandon. He played in the Western International League as a professional and since has been making a name for himself in the semi-pros. If Oregon State loses out in the Northern Division college baseball race this week, perhaps Bandon will move into town with Bailey Brem, one of last year's SWO standouts.

Completing the battery will be Bill Burgher, field manager of the club. He formerly played with Portland, also.

The lowlands of Scotland contain 10 percent of Scotland's area but 75 percent of its population and most of its industry.

The Metolius River in Central Oregon flows straight out of a mountain and is a full-fledged river from the start.

SUCCESSFUL RETURN — Jerry Cade, the youngster who put Drain on the high school baseball map by pitching the Warriors to three straight state championships, returned Sunday. He made his first home stand since last year by hurling a five-hitter to beat the Coquille Loggers, 4-2, in the second game of a double header. His coach at Linfield, Roy Helser, won the first game for the Drain Black Sox, 1-0.

Nine In Court For Drunkeness

Nine cases involving drunkenness were disposed of in Municipal Court Monday by Judge Ira B. Riddle.

Court records listed the following men and sentences or fines given: Clarence Eugene Oxford, General Delivery, Roseburg, 10 days in jail in lieu of $20 fine on charge of drunkenness; Homer Conner, transient, 10 days in lieu of $20 fine; George Howard Abbott, Merced, Calif., 10 days in lieu of $20 fine; William E. English, Woodland, 10 days in lieu of $20 fine; Wilbert Tobias Domon, 20 days in lieu of $40 fine; Arthur M. William Wench, Rose Hotel, $20 bail forfeited; Goy Carson, Grand Hotel, $30 bail forfeited; Wilfred Verne Johnson, Klamath Falls, $20 bail forfeited; Franklin K. Cashman, 1228 Shenandoah, $30 bail forfeited on charge of being drunk in an auto.

Fullerton Dads' Picnic Enjoyed By 500 Youths

Hot dogs and soda pop disappeared fast Friday evening during the annual Fullerton Dad's picnic held for some 500 Fullerton youngsters.

Daniel Dimick, Fullerton Dads president, said 1,000 hot dogs, 1,000 buns, 1,080 bottles of soda pop and 800 ice cream bars mysteriously disappeared during the picnic.

It was strictly a dad's and youngsters' affair with the only exception being five Cub Scout Den mothers.

New officers of the Dads Club were installed during the picnic.

Fawns Shouldn't Be Molested, Public Warned

If you're tempted to pick up a fawn this spring and haul it home as a playmate for the children, don't do it warns the game commission for by act of the legislature it is unlawful to take the young of any game bird or animal from its natural habitat and hold it in captivity.

Nearly all fawn cases investigated by game agents amount to "fawnapping." Bambi really wasn't lost, just hiding until Mom returned. A newborn fawn has no odor, and protective coloration and freezing are its best protection.

An Astoria resident fined $27 in justice court this week for possessing a fawn was the first Oregonian convicted of "fawnapping," and the justice warned that the price of fawns is going up.

Until this year, game agents retrieved fawns from their captors and took them to State game farms. Now the fawns will first appear in justice court with their captor before the trip to the game farm foster home. Fawns held in captivity soon shed their gentle innocence, and on many occasions game agents have been called upon to dispatch a pet deer that turned on its owner. There are several records of fatal injuries from the slashing hooves of a pet deer.

If there is reason to believe a mother deer has been killed or injured, a game agent or police should be notified. A fawn should not be disturbed.

'Unfair' Ruling Against Shingle Union Upheld

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A National Labor Relations Board trial examiner has upheld the charge of unfair labor practices in a Snohomish County, Wash., case involving a boycott against Canadian shingles.

Juke Box Traps Man As He Changes Record

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Bill Bowen got trapped, of all places, in a juke box.

It took a rescue party to free him.

Bowen, 36-year-old music firm employee, was changing records Saturday in one of the music boxes when he decided to play a few "free ones" for the patrons of the bar. While reaching inside the machine to trip the proper levers, the mechanism caught his wrist and held it tightly.

He was trapped for more than an hour while the bartender and customers offered advice and so-lace. A group of mechanics, answering hurry-up calls, finally freed him after taking part of the coin machine apart.

Bowen's hand looked like the St. Louis Blues when it came out, but it was undamaged.
