INTEREST IN RIDING is being promoted at the Lou Andrus ranch at Dillard, where the Arena Club has been organized and competitive riding takes place Wednesday evenings and Sunday afternoons. Plans are, said Andrus, to start a riding academy later. Riders next Wednesday will finish a first round of competition for trophies. Top picture shows calf ropers competing for trophy held by Beth McFarlane and donated by Gubser's Service Station. They are, left to right, Mr. Foyg, Gary Claver, Jim Bemetz, Dale Moore, Howard Pruitt, Walt Vask, Floyd Gaskill, Rich Vredenberg, D. Whittington, LeRoy Winship, Ike Winship and Dave Winship. Center picture features juniors in pole bending event, competing for trophy held by Doc Carter and donated by Carter Tire Shop. They are Butch Fults, Jackie Whittington, Tony Weber, Bob Fults, Judy Stroud, Merlin Miller and John McFarlane. Man With Two Wives Exposed After 11 Years

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — A trusting Glasgow wife said her husband slept away from home for 11 years "but I never suspected the truth."

The truth turned out to be that 57-year-old mailman Peter Miller had set himself up a second home — complete with second wife — and kept up the two on the equivalent of $20 a week.

At first he used to tell his legal wife he was staying with friends for the weekend, then it was every night of the week.

"But every morning about 10 o'clock, he would arrive home and make breakfast," his legal wife said when Miller was charged with theft and bigamy in Glasgow Sheriff's Court.

"He was a very good man in the house. When I used to complain about him not coming home at night, he threatened to leave altogether, so I just said nothing at all about it," the legal Mrs. Miller said.

Miller gave his legal wife $8.40, his other wife $11.20 — and kept the odd cents for himself.

He might never have been caught if he had not started robbing the mails, to "give these ladies some little extra benefits," his counsel said.

Miller was jailed six months for bigamy and stealing $112 out of mail packets.

Stolen Crowns Returned Minus Twenty Jewels

NEW YORK (AP) — "The crowns are returned. The Blessed Mother has heard our prayers. A miracle has happened."

Msgr. Angelo R. Claffi's words Sunday suddenly brought joy to the congregation at Brooklyn's Roman Catholic Votive Shrine of Regina Pacis.

They summed up the impact caused by the theft from the shrine nine days ago of two jeweled gold crowns, valued at $150,000 and insured for $100,000; and they told of the strange return of the gems by special delivery mail.

The crowns were part of a mural in the shrine, dedicated to the Virgin as Queen of Peace.

Worshippers applauded, two women fainted. Others wept tears of joy. There was no doubt; the jewels were back. The priest held them aloft for all to see.

True, they were slightly bent and about 20 jewels worth between $2,000 and $3,000 were missing. But the crowns had returned — the crowns blessed by the Pope, the crowns for which many of the worshippers had contributed family jewels.

Mossadegh Asks Hands Off Oil Dispute Crisis

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP) — Frail and aged Premier Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran went before the World Court Monday and urged it to refuse to interfere in his country's dispute with the British over the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

Opening his government's case, he accused Britain of having made the Anglo-American company a "state within a state" with its own intelligence service operating throughout Iran.

It was the first time in the post-war history of the United Nations-sponsored International Court of Justice that the head of a state appeared in person to plead his country's case. Mossadegh's reputation for tearfully emotional debate filled the courtroom to capacity.

Britain, which has asked the court to rule in the dispute, contends that Iran's seizure of the billion-dollar oil company properties was a breach of international agreements and thus of international law.

Iran contends that the nationalization of the IOC properties 15 months ago was an internal affair and that the court has no competence to rule.
