Internal Ills Revealed On TV Through X-Rays

CHICAGO (AP)—X-rays that put a picture on a TV screen can make a mosquito seem as big as a grapefruit.

These new pictures promise a safe, easy method of X-raying to detect early cancers or other troubles of the stomach or intestines, or of letting a doctor watch exactly what happens when he sets broken bones.

The X-ray device was described Thursday to the American Medical Association by Robert J. Moon, University of Chicago physicist.

X-ray pictures of the middle of the human body are hard to take clearly without using a fairly heavy dose of X-rays. Some method is needed that uses a light dose but gets clear pictures and a method suitable for mass survey use like chest X-rays to spot TB.

Moon's device gets X-rays from electrons hitting a tungsten target. The rays go through a tiny pinhole, and form a pattern. But only one in 10,000 of the rays gets through.

The rays pass through the body then are turned into bursts of ultraviolet or suntan rays. A tube picks up these rays, turns them into electric impulses, and multiplies them many millions of times. These impulses go through a TB viewing tube, and appear magnified on the screen. The pictures are a thousand times more brilliant than the usual ones on a fluoroscopic screen.

Tacoma Bakers Turn Down Bid To End Strike

By The Associated Press

Tacoma bakers voted 82 - 18 Thursday morning to continue their six-week strike. A similar vote on the employers latest offer was being held in Portland.

More than 4,000 AFL bakers in Seattle, Tacoma and Portland have been on strike since May 2.

The outcome of the Tacoma vote came as somewhat of a surprise since union officials had recommended acceptance of the offer which granted wage increases from 6 to 22 cents an hour and health and welfare plan costing employers $8.66 monthly for each worker.

The proposal did not contain the union's principal demand, however, of Saturdays and Sundays off.

Rudolph Davis, business representative of the Tacoma bakers' local, said the members instructed the negotiating committee to "go back and get Sundays off or get time and a half for Sunday work."

Planning Fireworks? Don't Forget Permit

SALEM (AP)—Organizations planning public displays of fireworks for July 4 were urged Tuesday by State Fire Marshal Robert B. Taylor to make their requests for permits soon.

Applications must be made at least 15 days before the displays are scheduled to be held.

Fireworks in Oregon are banned except for public displays for which permits are obtained.

Morse Backs Minority In Steel Case Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Republican, sided with the U. S. Supreme Court minority in the decision outlawing President Truman's seizure of the steel industry.

Morse said in a statement Monday night that a reading of the opinions in the steel case impressed him "with the fact that the minority of the court has a much keener appreciation of the realities and the dynamics of a system of government by law than does the majority."

The senator declared that Congress now has a clear duty "to pass some legislation that will guarantee to the public a procedure which will give to labor, as well as to employers, the guarantee of equal justice before the law."

We think whoever tacked on the phrase to Johnny Ray "Prince of Wales" should have a slight increase in salary. Wonder who it is? I think up clever things like that!

J. C. Lewis, producer-director of the Don Lee "Jack Kirkwood Show," has had his first song published and his friends tell him that it is bound to be a hit. Written in collaboration with Jud Conlin, the song is called "Stars Begin to Fall" and has been disked on the Revere label. Frank Skinner's orchestra provides the accompaniment for the Jud Conlin Rhythmaires, with Lullie - Jean Norman carrying the soprano's part out to a "T." It will be fun to watch the success, if any, of the song "Stars Begin to Fall."

Mutual - Don Lee's Cinderella "Queen For A Day" program will elect the most personable college co-ed in the land as its "College Queen," and gift her with four-wheel personality.

This latter expression is used on the campuses of the country's more than 1,600 universities and colleges to describe those students who have their own "College Queen" who will receive among the many royal prizes planned for her will be a new four-door sedan.

The program plans all this for its Friday, June, 20, 11:30 to 12 noon, PDST, broadcast, which will conclude a four-week preliminary campus campaign throughout the land. Only ex-"Queens" are to be among 350 studio guests for this particular broadcast, and will be eligible to vote for the "College Queen."

The radio show's campaign is keyed to the annual parties and
