EMPHASIZING THEIR CHALLENGE to Ashland's Whiskerinos in a beard growing contest this fall, three Douglas County Centennial Whiskalantes invaded Ashland last Saturday to seek out "peach fuzz" growers from the city of famed Lithia water. "Peach fuzz" was all they found, declared Stewart Stephens, local whisker contest chairman. They sought out Bob O'Hara, Ashland whisker chairman, on a golf course and arranged a meeting that night at the Red Barn dance hall. But O'Hara failed to appear, calling and giving needed attention to sick wife as the reason, said Stephens. Nevertheless the Roseburg trio, above, including Ed Waldron, center, and Bob Willhite, right, proceeded to make themselves very much in evidence at the Red Barn, and took part in a floor show.
