Inspector Cites Bee Regulations

It is unlawful to move bees without a permit, and further, bee owners cannot buy bees or sell them unless they have been inspected and registered. This fact was called to the attention of local bee owners by Roswell H. Graves, who was recently appointed to the position of county bee inspector. The inspector is employed by the state. Graves, who lives at Route 1, Box 429, Sutherlin, has just completed a three-week course in bee inspection. He has had considerable experience, having handled bees himself the last 12 years. Douglas County has not had an inspector for more than a year. Previous to that time there was no inspector for about 15 years. While the state law has been in effect for some time relative to permits for moving of bees and requirement for inspection and registration, there has been little enforcement during recent years, according to Graves.

FBI Has Found 19,000 Delinquents On Draft

WASHINGTON — The FBI said Tuesday it has located more than 19,000 draft delinquents since the peacetime Selective Service law went into effect. The data was made public by director J. Edgar Hoover on the fourth anniversary of the law. Of the men located, Hoover said, 3,301 were actually fugitives, and prosecutions have resulted in 554 convictions. Hoover stressed that the Bureau's chief interest in such investigations is to make the draft delinquent available for military service. He said those prosecuted represent only the most willful violators. Some 11,929 cases of indicated draft-evasion were awaiting investigation at the beginning of this month, the report said.
