Quit Recruiting Farm Workers, Truman Asks
 WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman told the armed services Thursday to quit recruiting farm workers if they are deferred from the draft for necessary production.

Teenage Problems, Gripes, Glamor Discussed By Knowing Lass Of 14

DENVER (AP) — There is a girl here I have known since her birth, and she was so small then that her mother now tells her, "I could put you in a teacup the day you were born."
 But now she is a tall, pretty, dark-haired young lady who has reached the tremulous teens.

What is it like to be a teen-ager? I asked her.

"I'll tell you—if you don't use my real name," she said.

"What shall I call you, dear?"

"Call me June Badger—that is my favorite imaginary name. I used to dream my name was June Badger, and that I would grow up and marry a man named Harry Pearson."

"All right, June," I said. "Is it fun to be a teen-ager?"

"I should say not," she said firmly. "There are millions of problems. Grownups look back and think they would like to be in their teens again. But they forget all the problems."

"What is the biggest problem?"

"Boys," she said flatly. "The ones our age that we'd like to date prefer to date older girls. We don't have as much poise and aren't as good dancers."

"What does a teen-ager want most?" I asked.

"To be popular," said June. "And you know what the real secret of success in this world is? It's to have plenty of soft drinks in your refrigerator. Then you always have plenty of friends."

"Of course, there are all kinds of ways to be popular. But it is very unkind to be too smart—to be called a brain. That's definitely disreputable."

Slang Essential

A teen-ager has to keep up on his slang. At the moment something that used to be known as the cat's whiskers is now called "sly, really neat, the real george, or deady boo."

"But nobody says 'turn blue' anymore," said June. "That is very dull. I hate that glop."

"What is a glop?"

"Glop means stuff—naturally," said June. "What else could it mean?"

How about parents? Are they much of a problem?

"Teen-agers worry a great deal about their parents," said June. "Especially if the parents spend too much time on social activities away from the home."

"Parents don't understand you too well sometimes. They don't realize their children should be allowed to do what other children their age do—that teen-agers want to be part of a group."

"And parents also are often difficult about clothes. They think they know how their children should be dressed, but they don't. I know one boy who is unpopular because he wears corduroy pants instead of blue jeans, like the other kids. Of course, his personality isn't so hot either."

Marriage Chief Desire

June also brought up the fact many parents don't realize the importance of telephones to teen-agers.

"They should get the children separate telephones," she suggested.

When I asked what she wanted most out of life, she said:

"Happiness. I can cook and sew and I want to get married and have five or six children—all boys. I don't think girls would be much fun to raise. And besides having a family I would like to do civic and patriotic things to help others."

I asked June what she thought was most wrong with the world, and this was her answer:

"People don't think about other people enough or try to understand them. They are too selfish, and think too much of themselves."

June isn't quite 14 yet. I am sure in time she will find and marry her Harry Pearson. And I am also sure that if most teen-agers are as sincerely honest as she is—well, they are a wonderful race of people, for all their many, many problems.

Texas Editor's Death Pronounced Suicide

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Gene Howe, Texas editor and publisher and the famed "Old Tack" of a daily news column in the Amarillo Globe, was found dead in his car Wednesday.

He had ended his own life with a bullet. He was 66.

The car was parked on the southeast outskirts of Amarillo. A bullet had pierced his right temple. A .38 caliber pistol was still in his hand. He was found lying in the rear seat of his car.

The Amarillo Globe-News said Howe had been despondent because of his health.

Federal Waste In Buy Of Rivets For 1 Door Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Davis (R-Wis.), related Wednesday how the government's housekeeping agency advertised for bids for some rivets to fix hinges on a post office door instead of simply buying them for a few cents.

This is how it happened, he said in a statement:

A few rivets came out of the hinges of a door on the San Angelo, Tex., post office.

The General Services Administration checked hardware stores in San Angelo and Dallas but didn't find the exact rivets it wanted.

So it asked rivet manufacturers as far from Texas as Wisconsin to submit bids.

"The cost of issuing the call for bids probably was more than the cost of 48 rivets," he said. "As a matter of fact, GSA didn't need that many rivets, but wanted some spares in case another hinge went bad."

He added that the rivet wanted is the standard use for brake linings "which could have been purchased from any garage or automotive jobber in the U.S. for a few cents."

Davis said Administrator Jess Larson of the agency had advised him "the fact that the item was available from automotive jobbers was overlooked. We are calling this matter to the attention of our purchasing officers."

"Most-Wanted" of Them All!

It will probably occasion no surprise on your part to be told that the Cadillac car is the most wanted and sought-after automobile on the American highways.

But you might be surprised to learn how widespread the desire to own this great motor car has become during recent years.

Statistics indicate, for instance, that there are more than twenty million motorists in America who would like to call a Cadillac their own. And were the whole of the world's motorists to be considered, this number would grow well-nigh beyond comprehension.

There is reason to believe, in fact, that Cadillac may be wanted by more people than any other product manufactured in America today. It might well be called the great desideratum of the American people.

Naturally, a motor car has to offer many wonderful things in order to occupy such a unique position in the hopes and aspirations of so many persons.

It has to offer great and distinguishing beauty... luxurious comfort... brilliant, masterful performance... and wonderful prestige.

And, of course, in order to have become the logical ambition of so many millions, it would have to be practical to own, as well as wonderful to drive. And so, it would also have to offer—extraordinary economy!

If this sounds like the description of the car that you, yourself, would like to own and drive, then come in and see us—soon.

Perhaps the time has come for you to join the hundreds of thousands of motorists who have stopped wanting a Cadillac—and started enjoying one!

We'd be happy to see you any time.
