Applications For TV Outlets Being Sorted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) today began sorting out 315 applications for new television outlets, with prospects some may receive grants before the end of the month.

This was the first step toward a resumption of grants with FCC suspended in October, 1948, in order to create 70 new channels and deal with interference problems.

Under the procedure announced when the commission ended the 3 1/2-year-old freeze in April, first consideration will be given those areas which have never had any TV service and to those communities which will pioneer the use of ultra high frequency (UHF) channels.

The staff sorting job consists of sifting out those applicants without competition for a given channel and the grouping of others contesting for the same facilities in a single community.

Admittedly, the "no - contest" cases will get the first grants. Ninety-five applications for TV outlets, including six from the Pacific Northwest, were received by the FCC Monday.

The Oregon Radio, Inc., Salem, Ore., applied for VHF channel 8; Lane Broadcasting Co., Eugene, Ore., for VHF channel 9; KVOS, Inc., Bellingham, Wash., for VHF channel 12, and Oregon Television, Inc., Portland, Ore., for VHF Channel 12.

Applications amending earlier ones on file includes Pioneer Broadcasters, Inc., Portland, Ore., for VHF channel 6.

Truman Lashes New Controls Measure

strengthen the defense production program and the stabilization program would have expired."

The President declared: "I asked the Congress to strengthen our stabilization machinery and remove some of the 'built-in' inflationary features, like the Caphart amendment. But instead the Congress has moved in the other direction."

Gamble With Inflation
As a whole, he said the bill gives only very limited protection against inflation. He forecast:

"If the Congress provides sufficient funds for proper administration of this weakened act, and if we have no sudden worsening of the international crisis, and no panic buying, we may be fortunate enough to get through the next ten months without serious damage to our economy. But this act, nevertheless, forces us to take a serious gamble with inflation, and all of us should recognize that fact."

The new law keeps the lid on prices and wages generally for the next 10 months, until April 30, 1953. It continues authority for allocating scarce materials for a full year, until June 30, 1953.

Rent Controls Limited
Federal rent controls will last three months, until Sept. 30, except in areas certified as critically in need of defense housing or those in which local authorities request their continuance.

Non-critical areas now under rent control have a total population of about 53 million and include such cities as Chicago, Philadelphia and San Francisco.

Dropped from price control are processed fruits and vegetables—frozen, canned and so on.

OPS officials complained this would bite into the housewife's food budget, much of which they said went for such items.

Government curbs on consumer credit—the installment plan for buying things like automobiles and refrigerators—died with the old act Monday midnight.

Real estate credit restrictions were relaxed, but officials announced there would be no immediate change in regulation "X", which sets minimum cash down payments for home purchases.

Initiative On Standard Time Filed For Ballot

SALEM (AP)—The Oregon Farmers Union Monday filed an initiative petition which, if approved by voters at the November election, will make standard time mandatory throughout Oregon.

The measure is the first initiative to be filed this year. Four or five more are expected to be filed before the July 3 deadline.

The Farm Bureau measure would repeal the present law which says the state must have standard time unless the governor proclaims daylight time to conform with neighboring states. The new measure calls for a flat prohibition against the state or any city or county government adopting fast time.
