

Old Foes Of U.S. Become Buffers Against Russia

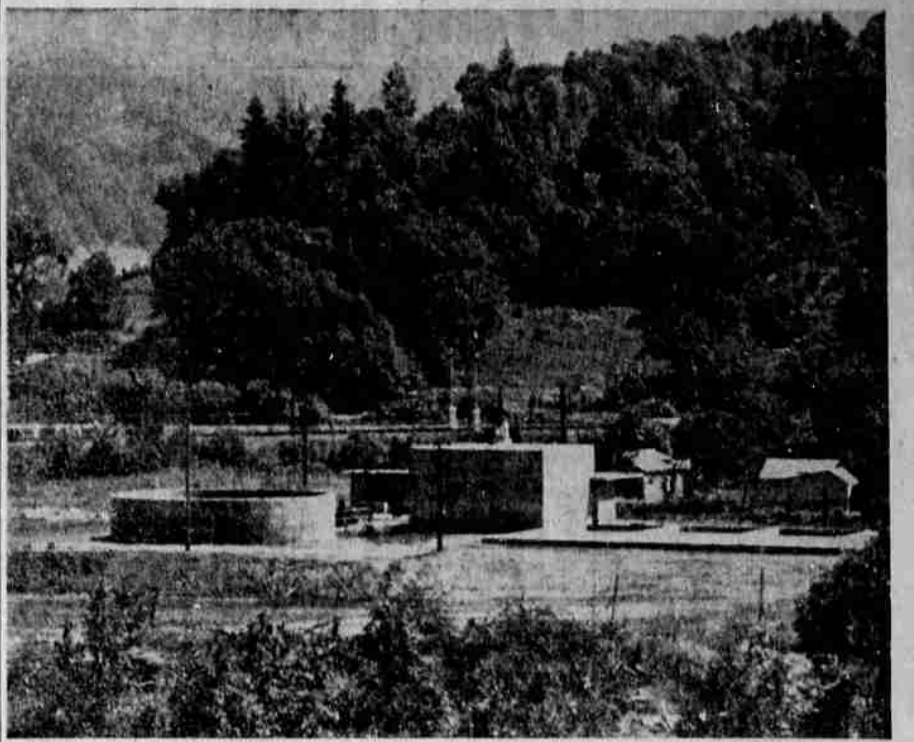

By JAMES MARLOW
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Time and necessity seem to be very powerful medicine for healing old wounds, even war wounds.
 Not so many years ago feeling against Germany was so intense some individuals suggested sterilizing all German males to spare the world future Germans.
 And there was talk, but not official, of reducing Germany to farm land by destroying its big industries to prevent re-arming.
 Feeling against Japan was equally severe. But it's now seven years since Germany and Japan surrendered.
 And in those seven years the Russians have become the new enemy, making it necessary for the U. S. to find new allies, even among old enemies.
 As a starter, the U. S. poured billions into Japan and Germany to get them back on their feet.
 And only a few months ago the Senate approved a very mild peace treaty with Japan, even letting it re-arm.
 In turn, the Japanese agreed to let U. S. troops remain in Japan. With them there and with a friendly Japan re-arming, the U. S. obtained a priceless outpost in the Pacific against Russia.
 And Tuesday the Senate, after only seven hours debate, overwhelmingly approved arrangements for letting Germany pretty much run itself.
Buffers Created
 This applies only to the government of Western Germany, of course, since the Russians control the eastern part. There is a similarity between the treaty with Japan and the deal with Germany. While Japan is now the most

Foreign Aid Lag Helped Reduce Budget Deficit

By CHARLES MOLONY
 WASHINGTON (AP) — A $2,400,000,000 lag in foreign aid outlays helped hold the U. S. budget deficit for fiscal 1952 to $4,016,640,378.10—less than half of President Truman's January forecast.
 Analysis of year-end figures announced by the treasury late Tuesday showed spending on military and economic aid for other countries in the mutual security program came to only 4 1/2 billion of a budgeted $6,900,000,000.
 Outlays for the U. S. military services ran almost 900 million short of the budget 39 billion, making the second biggest contribution toward holding total spending $4,700,000,000 below the President's estimate of last January.
 There were scattered other factors in the government's improved financial picture. Veteran's benefits cost 300 million less than the budgeted $5,200,000,000; interest payments on the federal debt ran 100 million less than the six billion budgeted.
 Government costs in all came to $66,100,000,000 for the 12 months ended June 30. Although federal spending did not reach the heights predicted by Truman, it jumped 50 per cent above fiscal 1951 and topped all previous years in which there was no full-scale war.
Tax Revenue Short
 Tax receipts would have cut the deficit still lower had they lived up to presidential expectations. As it was, they totaled $62,100,000,000, or 551 million short of Truman's forecast. Income tax receipts were 600 million below his estimate.
 The tax collection was huge, however, by every other standard—20 billion dollars above the World War Two peak and 29 per cent above fiscal 1951, due to increased rates and new levies.
 The better-than-expected outcome of fiscal 1952 promised to make it easier for the government to bear the heavier deficit anticipated for fiscal 1953, which began Tuesday.

western outpost against Russia. Germany is the eastern outpost. And in Germany, just as in Japan, the U. S. will be allowed to keep troops. France and Britain will keep troops in Germany, too.
 When the other interested nations give their formal blessing to this setup, as the senate did, those troops will cease to be called occupation troops.
 Nevertheless, under the agreement with the present German government, those troops can step in any time and suppress what may appear to them as an attempt to overthrow this present kind of German government.
 This, in effect, gives the Western Allies a stick over the Germans, which is a little stiffer than the deal made with Japan.
 At any rate, in the land of its two great wartime enemies, the U. S. now has troops and some friends as advance guards against Russia.

Foreign Policy Shift Forecast In GOP Plank

CHICAGO (AP) — John Foster Dulles, Republican foreign policy expert, predicted Wednesday the 1952 GOP platform will call for a major departure in United States foreign policy.
 Dulles has been called in as a special adviser to help draft a foreign policy plank.
 Dulles declined to amplify on his statement to newsmen beyond saying that the plank was expected to show (1) why there should be a change in foreign policy, and (2) what we should change to.
 Dulles said he had been in contact with representative of both the Taft and Eisenhower forces and felt confident an agreement could be reached without too much trouble.
 At the platform committee hearings Wednesday, Americans for Democratic Action said "countless sober, thoughtful and independent" voters are pledged to "resist any revival of isolationism under whatever guise."

Working Women Indispensable, Federation Told

BOSTON (AP) — Author Margaret Cushman Banning says working women have the satisfaction of knowing the world can't get along without them.
 Speaking Wednesday night before the National Federation of Business and Professional Women she said:
 "Woman worked because she had to. Because it was sustenance and survival, because with wars and smaller houses and with bigger factories and with men finding out they didn't have to support women, she could not do anything else."
 "But she is not pitying herself today for a minute."
 "She would not go back to the world of 50 years ago when a woman who worked for pay, unless she was a factory drudge, a maid of all work or a teacher, was a rarity."
 "But the invisible pay she won as she worked for miserable wages is this: She knows the world cannot do without her."
 "The organization named Miss Helen Irwin, Des Moines, Iowa, insurance executive, as its new president.
 Others elected included Miss Ruth C. Cullin, Bremerton, Wash., treasurer.

Basketball Game Fixers Sentenced To Prison Terms

NEW YORK (AP) — Eleven admitted basketball fixers were sentenced Wednesday, some to heavy jail terms, in the climax of the collegiate basketball scandal which threatened the future of the sport a year and a half ago.

In passing sentence, after giving the fixers a heavy verbal flailing, General Sessions Judge Saul S. Streit urged that subsidization of athletics be made a criminal offense in all states.

The first sentenced, Joseph Benintende, 43-year-old ex-convict, was given four to seven years in state prison.

Jack West, 40, of Brooklyn, received two to three years in prison, and Jack Rubinstein, 35, also of Brooklyn, was given two and a half to five years on a bribery charge.

Judge Streit, a caustic critic of high-powered college sports again attacked the whole structure of "commercialized college" sports.
