

Melrose School Now Standard, States Report

The Melrose Elementary School has been declared standard by the State Department of Education in a report received by the Roseburg Public Schools. An evaluation was made on April 15 by a member of the State Department of Education.

This report congratulated the former board of the Melrose District on the planning they had done to make this school the fine school that it is, and the Roseburg schools for the fine job of maintenance and operation.

A special commendation was made concerning the school building and the site. The lovely oak trees standing on the grounds lend a delightful air to the site, making it appropriate for a children's playground, the report stated. The approach to the building and the place for loading and unloading the buses is particularly suitable. The rooms are well planned and painted with attractive colors. A desirable instructional program was evidenced by the work of the teachers and the principal. The children showed a high degree of spirit and pride in their school.

The report pointed out that now that the Melrose District has consolidated with the Roseburg Public Schools, the resources of District 4 can help to enrich the program at Melrose. Additional help may now be given in music, art, science and in other activities. It was suggested in the report that additional improvement needs to be made in the library services. It is anticipated that improvement will be continued in the instructional program and in landscaping around the building.

Melrose School is one in which everyone may be justly proud, and one in which children will continue to receive the best in educational opportunities, says Marvin E. Smith, Roseburg assistant superintendent.

Lovelines In Contest For Sutherland Queen

The first four candidates are pictured on this page, with remaining photos to follow later. Here's a bit about them:

Two of the pictured queen possibilities are musicians. Barbara Meyers plays the clarinet and Evelyn Frotzcher the French horn in the Sutherland High School band.

Not content with just one school activity, Barbara was treasurer of her sophomore class last year, chaplain of the Tri-Hi-Y Club and a staffer on the school paper. She's 16 years old and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Meyers of Sutherland. Her hair is light brown and wavy; her eyes are blue. She's five feet three inches tall and weighs 110 pounds. Evelyn's palomino, "Dough Boy" takes a lot of her time. She likes nothing better than to be constantly in the saddle. Her main hobby is animals.

Besides her band work and horseback riding she finds time to serve as outer guard in Jobs Daughters.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frotzcher, she's 16, five feet two inches tall, weighs a bit over 100 pounds, has blond hair and brown eyes. She'll be a junior in school this fall.

Swimming is the main love of the other two pictured candidates—Mildred Chester and Margaret Rose.

But 17-year-old Mildred also occupies her time with sewing and home economics. She's a brown-eyed brunette, five feet 6 1/2 inches tall, and a high school senior this September.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Chester of Sutherland. Another Tri-Hi-Y and Jobs Daughters gal, Margaret is sergeant at arms of the former and librarian of the latter.

She's also 17 and will be a senior in Sutherland High next year. Margaret is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Rose Jr. of Sutherland.

Mysterious Patron Gives Waitress $531 Tip

TORANGE, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Viola DeVivi, a pretty, 23-year-old waitress, has finally pocketed—and banked—a phenomenal $531 tip left her three weeks ago by a mysterious stranger.

Police took over the money after Mrs. DeVivi found it under a customer's plate the night of June 18. But they were unable to locate her benefactor and reported there were no cases on file of lost or stolen money. So the wad was returned to the waitress.

Ike Gets Lead In Fight For Contested Delegates

ly forecast announcement that he is supporting Eisenhower.

The 52 to 18 poll of his delegation in favor of seating the Georgia Eisenhower group seemed to reflect equal support there for the general in the nomination battle.

A Pennsylvania caucus showed 52 votes for the general, 16 for Taft, and three for Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Although Taft's strategists conceded he had suffered a setback, they promised grimly to continue the fight.

Hoover Endorses Taft There was no suggestion they might give way for another candidate, although there was growing talk on the fringes about general MacArthur as a possible runner.

Robert Hoover came out for Taft Wednesday. The former president, whose speech Tuesday night drew a tremendous convention ovation, issued a statement pleading for party unity and urged the nomination of Taft.

Taft himself reiterated he expects to be nominated "on an early ballot."

He said that "a number" of delegates who voted Eisenhower's way on the delegate contests "have assured me they will vote for me on the roll call."

Eisenhower, who slept through the convention's midnight vote on the Georgia test, earlier had declared he would win the nomination.

Ike's Backers Cautious Eisenhower's backers were wary of predicting any first ballot victory.

But Thomas E. Coleman of Wisconsin, Taft's floor manager, told reporters he thinks the "grass roots" states will swing the nomination for Taft.

"The Dewey control over the New York delegation alone prevented a Taft victory," Coleman declared. "Before the balloting is over the delegates from the grass roots states will turn the fortunes of the party to my hands."

"They will not give the next campaign to the same man that lost the last two."

Coleman's allusion to Gov. Thas E. Dewey seemed to be part of an apparent Taft move to make the New York governor the prime objective of their attack.

Boos Great Dewey Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, pleading for acceptance of the pro-Taft Georgia delegation, sparked furious "boosing" of Dewey when he declared:

"We followed you before and you took us down the road to defeat."

Dewey also was booed lustily by the delegates and spectators when he voted for the pro-Eisenhower Georgia group during a poll of the New York Delegation. He took it all smilingly.

If Dirksen had any thought of becoming a vice presidential candidate on an Eisenhower ticket, he appeared to have made a powerful enemy in the general's court of advisers.

Glendale Marshal Gets New City Patrol Car

The Glendale City Council has voted to purchase a new city patrol car for use of the city marshal, Ray Hawk.

One of the special features of the car purchased is the fact that the front seat will let down to make an emergency ambulance. Marshal Hawk states that his own car will be on duty in town if it becomes necessary for the patrol car to be out of town.

GI in Korea Seeks Roseburg Pen Pals

One mail-less soldier in Korea has decided to do something about it.

The mailman brought the following letter, dated June 29, to the News-Review the other day: "I was wondering if you would be kind enough to print this in your paper."

"I am a lonely soldier fighting here in Korea. I don't receive much mail. I am 22 years old and I was wondering if some young ladies around my age would write to me."

"Letters mean the world to one who is here in Korea. "I thank you."

'Y' Secretary Resigns To Aid G.O.P. Ticket

One of its top organizers and financial administrators gone, the Pacific Northwest YMCA today was looking for a new Associate Area secretary after having "reluctantly" accepted the resignation of Willard R. Rouse, effective June 30th, to seek the office of state treasurer on the Republican ticket in the forthcoming election.

Rouse, thirty-five year pioneer in YMCA work in this area, tendered his resignation in order to pursue an objective in which he was encouraged by many close to state government who share his platform for efficient teamwork in state economic procedures.

The 57-year old resident of Olympia, Rouse, has directed the annual YMCA sponsored Youth Legislature program throughout the Northwest for the past four years and also has prepared and administered YMCA budgets for many years. His interest in governmental fiscal affairs has grown as a result of his direction of the YMCA Youth Legislature and through many close state governmental contacts made during his 12 years residence in Olympia and his state-wide travels as Area secretary. Long active in civic, church and community affairs, Rouse is a member of Kiwanis, has served as moderator of Olympia Presbytery, and in addition has held many state and national YMCA positions.

amphitheatre which all these years has resounded to nothing more violent than a livestock exhibition.

The galleries are usually half-empty. . . . Even General MacArthur failed to fill all the seats. Too bad, since everyone in Chicago is biting everyone else in a vain attempt to rattle his way in to the big show. The only disturbance up here is the television mechanics hanging periodically from the rafters adjusting the huge klieg lights which pick out each delegation.

Television Reveals Truth In front of me is a 12th school girl who in two days has chewed her inch-long fingernails to the quick. She did most of the damage the first day, pleading with everyone at large to defeat the Lingle amendment. To my left is the editor of a Wisconsin weekly. He is slightly deaf so I shout him the main developments. He invariably shakes his head and mutters "Too bad, too bad." Must be a Democrat. On the other side is a housewife from Minnesota. She is here to see if the speakers look as bad in real life as they do on her television set. Her opinion after two days is they do. They say television is in its infancy but if public opinion is any gauge, the average politico had better start growing with it.

The tone of this convention is on the grim side but it has its lighter moments. One of the funniest was Puerto Rico's request for an official poll during a vote. Everyone roared with delight, as P.R. has just three delegates. The secretary rolled out the Spanish names over the loud speaker with proper dignity and received two timid "yesses" in response. But the impassioned NO that came in answer to the third name brought down the house.

Acid Test For Ike Went to the California caucus with Mac Epley, former Herald and News editor. Sen. Knowland is chairman of the delegation here and moved things along in a hurry to make way for a visit from Senator Taft. The Senator was in top form and undoubtedly swayed more than a vote or two. I was particularly interested, as he delivered almost word for word the speech he gave to the Oregon delegation on a previous occasion. He left the Oregonians as cold as an early snow, but got a big hand from the Californians. General Eisenhower will be California's next morning guest and everyone is anxious to compare his reception with that given Taft. The impression here is that the General goes tense at all these public question-and-answer meetings and doesn't show up as well as more seasoned campaigners.
