

Popcorn Too Expensive For Fuselage Ballast

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — As a tool of aircraft research, popcorn's a flop.

Lockheed aircraft engineers needed something light to fill the fuselage of a transport plan undergoing pressure tests. They tried popcorn, bushels of it.

The pressure crushed the popcorn. Ping-pong balls held up fine, but enough for the job would have cost $250,000. The engineers settled on cardboard drums.

Anybody need any tired popcorn?

Aluminum Co. Asks U.S. Permit To Boost Price

WASHINGTON (AP) — The giant Aluminum Company of America Wednesday asked the government for a price increase of at least 10 percent.

The application filed with the Office of Price Stabilization requested a boost of two cents a pound on aluminum pig and a 10 percent increase on aluminum ingot, semi-fabricated and fully fabricated aluminum products.

The proposed increase on pig would raise the price from 18 to 20 cents a pound.

OPS officials said the company bases its request on increased cost for materials and labor and on anticipated higher labor costs.

The agency said it has made no advanced study of the aluminum price situation and is unable to say what action may be taken. An industry advisory committee will be formed to review the situation quickly as possible.

Rep. John McCormick (D) of Mass., the House majority leader, is the interview guest for the Friday, July 18, 8:00 — 8:30 p.m. program of Mutual-Don Lee's "Rep-man's Roundup". The Congressman will be queried by newsmen on the eve of the Democratic Convention in Chicago, which opens on the following Monday. Incidentally, KRNR will be carrying all the highlights of that convention, just as they brought you the notable actions during the GOP convention. In connection with the Democratic convention, two interesting programs are forthcoming, on the next two Sundays from 7:00 — 7:30 p.m. Next Sunday at that time, there will be a preview of the Democratic convention, then the following Sunday, July 27, the Mutual network brings you a review of the convention, with the network's top commentators sitting in on the session. It will be most enlightening and informative.

Last Friday, Bob Grant aired "I Can Hear It Now," Volume I, in place of his regular "Nite Watch," and the response was so great that he is planning to air Volumes II and III this next Friday, starting at 10:15 p.m., since the material is lengthy. If you want some really fine listening in documentary form, be sure to tune in Friday night at 10:15 for "I Can Hear It Now."

Tonight at 7:30, Virginia Young takes over the studio grand for 15 minutes of "Musical Fashions," a program running the gamut of musical variety. This is the program which features exclusively Roseburg artists. You've heard thus far Glen Leuning, Sandra Melba, and now Virginia Young. By the way, at this writing, plans are underway to bring Sandra Melba back for a return engagement on "Musical Fashions" each Thursday night at 7:30, Bob McCarl announces.

Federal Dun For $38.12 Puzzles Indian Tribes

PARKER, Ariz. (AP) — Members of the council of the Colorado River Indian tribes shook their heads in wonderment Wednesday as they opened a bill from the Federal government.

The bill requests payment of $38.12 for the 9,950 U. S. checks used by the government to spend the tribes' money.

Puzzled, the Indians tabled the request for consideration at a future time.
