

Tyee Goal Of 76 Camp Fire Girls Tomorrow

Seventy-six Roseburg area Camp Fire Girls will leave for Camp Tyee's second session this Sunday, reports Mrs. O. E. Amundson, Roseburg director.

Special feature of the coming week's session will be a primitive camping area for the older girls. They'll sleep out under the stars in sleeping bags and cook over an open fire.

Tonight is the banquet and council fire that climaxes the first session's activities.

Camp director Louise Watson reminds campers to bring sack lunches for the first day and hats for the sun. She also asks parents to write to the girls, as some become homesick easily.

CIO Head Sees Demo Triumph

CHICAGO (AP)—CIO President Philip Murray Friday predicted a Democratic victory in November.

He said he could not endorse either Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, or the GOP platform.

Murray did not say so but left the impression that the CIO will be in the Democratic column in November.

He intimated that how hard the labor organization works for the Democratic ticket will depend a great deal on the convention's choice of candidates and platform pledges.

Murray was asked by newsmen after he held a closed conference with CIO officers whether he felt the Democrats would win the presidential election.

"No question about that," Murray replied. "Good candidates and a good platform will mean a victory in November for the Democrats."

$2.84 Ton Price Boost Allowed Steel Industry

WASHINGTON (AP)—Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall said Friday the government will allow steel companies a price boost of $2.84 a ton and no more.

He said that if any offer of a bigger increase had been made, it is now withdrawn.

But Arnall did not concede that any offers of more than $2.84 had been made.

Arnall's statement was at a news conference at which he announced he was sending a letter to the Weirton Steel Co., rejecting that company's plea for a boost of $5.30 from the current price of about $110.

One of the big hitches in settlement of the 47-day-old strike of Philip Murray's CIO steelworkers union has been the steel companies' insistence they must be allowed price raises to cover any wage increases granted the union.

Arnall said Defense Mobilizer John R. Steelman and Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam concur now with his position that the steel industry is entitled to a price boost of $2.84 under the Capchert amendment—and no more.

Steelman and Putnam were reported over the weekend to have told steel officials they could get a price increase of $5.65 a ton if that meant the strike could be settled promptly.

Pointing up what on the surface, at least, appears to be a conflict on the price issue among the administration's economic planners, Arnall asserted:

"As far as I'm concerned, this restatement of the position of the Office of Price Stabilization reverses the offer of a price increase averaging $5.65 per ton, if you can say that any such formal offer was made."

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Army doctor Friday recommended easier marches for young soldiers in training—to help save their feet from injury.

LL Col. Francis D. Threadgill of the Army's Fort Ord, Calif., hospital reported evidence that long road marches given before proper conditioning of new men helped cause "march fractures"—a fracture of certain bones of the fore-foot.

Although commonest among soldiers, it is sometimes seen in waitresses, postmen and others who walk a great deal, the colonel said.

Asserting that in actual combat the footsolder is seldom called upon to do long-lasting marching without let-up, Threadgill said, "it would appear unwise to cause march fractures by creating conditions which will not be met in the field."

The colonel also took a whack at "speed" marching, and said, moreover, that road marches should never be made on paved roads.

Another triggering cause of march fracture, he said, is "the presently current game of 'chicken fighting' in which two soldiers engage in the sadistic attempt to jump on their opponent's feet."

Note to G.I's: The colonel's remarks were carried in the U.S. Armed Forces Medical Journal, which says in its masthead that "the opinions expressed in this publication are not necessarily those of the Army, Navy, Air Force or Department of Defense."

Bus Firm Sued After Accident

Screen badman George Raft does a turnabout for the 8:00-9:00 p.m. production on Mutual-Don Lee's "MGM Theatre of the Air."

Raft is starred in "Unholy Partners," the story of a returned vet who risks his life to clean up a city. Would like to call your attention to this switch on the Theatre of the Air—henceforth it will be heard each Saturday evening from 8:00-9:00.

Sorry about that hassle with "Information Please"... we got the wrong time on it... now heard each Thursday evening at 8:00 p.m. Funny about that... it's the first time we can remember ever making a mistake... just goes to show that it will happen. "The Hardy Family" is now heard at the formerly quoted time of "Info Please," which happens to be Tuesday nights at 8:30.

Mutual-Don Lee and KRNR covers the convention of the Democrats like that proverbial blanket, beginning Monday. Here's the tentative schedule, which like all things, is subject to change.
