

DeWitts Downs Wiley, Gets PNW Tennis Title

TACOMA (AP) — A slender Californian, Jerry DeWitts, Oakland, copped the Pacific Northwest Tennis Championships title Saturday, downing Paul Wiley, Vancouver, B. C., in a straight set final, 6-4, 6-3, 6-0.

Another Golden Bear States invader, Herschel Hyde, Berkeley, won the junior men's crown with a 6-2, 6-3, 6-1 lacing of Seattle's Garry Linden. Both Hyde and DeWitts were top-seeded in their events.

18-Year-Old Takes 2nd Straight Golf Title

BOISE (AP) — Boning up for the National Women's Tournament at Portland next month, Spokane's 18-year-old golfing sensation, Connie Oldershaw, breezed to her second straight Idaho Women's golf title Saturday.

U.S. Athletes Lead Olympics

HELSINKI (AP) — America's jumpers and weight throwers continued to dominate the major events in the 15th Olympic games Monday as the second day's track and field events began.

The United States, which placed one-two in the high jump Sunday, sent three men into the final round of the shot put without effort and also qualified all its three entries for the broad jump final.

Without even taking off their sweat suits, Parry O'Brien of Southern California, world record holder Jim Fuchs of New York and Darrow Hooper of Fort Worth, Tex., surpassed the required distance of 47 feet 20.81 inches in the shot put.

The broad jumpers had a little more trouble, but Meredith (Flash) Gourdin of Cornell, Jerome Biffle of the U. S. Army and George Brown of the University of California at Los Angeles all surpassed 24 feet on their qualifying jumps.

A leap of 23 feet 7.47 inches was required to qualify for Monday afternoon's finals.

All three Americans also qualified for the pole vault finals without trouble.

Don Laz of Champaign, Ill., Bob Richards, the vaulting parson from La Verne, Calif., and George Mattoz of San Francisco cleared the required height of 13 feet 1.5 inches.

O'Brien turned in the best qualifying effort in the shot put—52 feet 7.90 inches.

Gourdin, after missing on his first attempt, jumped 24 feet 3.73 inches the second time to qualify just ahead of Biffle.

As a result of Sunday's trials, the United States also had three qualifiers in the semi-finals of the 100 meter dash and 400 meter hurdles, also scheduled for later Monday.

Rowing competition Monday was limited to "second trial" heats.

Most of the American crews already qualified for the semi-finals by placing first or second in Sunday's trials.

In wrestling American Bantamweight Bill Borders of Tulsa, Okla., lost a decision to Mohammed Yaghoubi of Iran.

He had won his first match Sunday and defeat Monday did not mean elimination.

Four Olympic records were bettered Sunday—three in final events and another in a preliminary.

The record smasher in final events Sunday were:

1. Walt Davis, a Texas cowboy, who cleared 6 feet 8.22 inches in the high jump.

2. Nina Romaschkova, a new name among the powerful Russian women athletes, who hurled the discus 168 feet 8.36 inches.

3. Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia, who has his sights set on winning the 5,000 meters, 10,000 meters and the marathon. He took the 10,000 Sunday, lowering his own 1948 mark from 29:59.6 to 29:17.0.

Charlie Moore, the former Cornell star from Ithaca, N. Y., glided over the 400-meter hurdles in :50.8 in Sunday's heats.

In rowing, Yugoslavia and France won their heats in the four oars without coxswain event in the fastest times ever recorded in the Olympics.

The Russians won their heats in the eight-oared crew and double and single sculls and qualified for the semi-final in the four oars without coxswain.

The Russians led the field in gymnastics after the compulsory exercises with Switzerland second and Finland third. The United States was ninth.

In the unofficial point standings, Russia leads with 23 points. The United States is second, with 15, followed by Czechoslovakia, with 10.

Masked Prince Defeats Kiser

Bleeding and virtually helpless, Jack Kiser was sure the Black Prince was no phantom Saturday in spite of his anonymous character.

Using headbutts that recalled the Galloping Ghost, the black-hooded Prince was awarded a referee's decision over the nimble-footed Kiser in the main Army wrestling event.

The Prince unleashed his battering-ram tactics in the third fall and soon had Kiser bleeding from the forehead and all but out on his feet. The masked newcomer won the first fall with his vaunted surfboard.

Kiser evened it up on the second fall with his favorite skin-the-cat hold, but his string ran out when the masked man started using his head.

The bill was changed slightly in the two preliminary matches, but the list of characters was the same. In the semifinal, Bill Fletcher, a new prospect from Boise, made a successful debut by battling the old Frenchman, Maurice La Chapelle, to a 30-minute draw. Both men took a fall.

Fletcher won the first with a back flip off the ropes, a body slam and a press. Ten minutes later, La Chapelle had evened it up with a hangman's hold.

Two Congressmen Go Deep Sea Fishing From Winchester Bay

By DAWN PESEAU

WINCHESTER BAY — Representative John F. Saylor of Pennsylvania and Benjamin F. Jensen of Iowa Sunday experienced their first deep sea fishing in Pacific waters. As guests of O. H. Hinsdale, Reedsport Port of Umpqua executive, aboard the Hinsdale cruiser, the Judy, they brought in two chinooks—one 38 pounder—two black snappers and a ling cod. N. E. Bjorklund and W. D. Hagenstein, associated with the Industrial Forestry Association of Portland; Nelson Hogan, Reedsport Port Commission member; Vic Peek of Winchester Bay; and Hinsdale made up the party which put out from Salmon Harbor at 7 a.m. and returned shortly after noon.

Appropriations Committee, and Jensen, of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, were enthusiastic about the harbor development program at Winchester Bay, of which Salmon Harbor is a significant feature. The Winchester Bay harbor development is sponsored jointly by the Douglas County Parks Board and the Port of Umpqua as a commercial and recreational fishery and harbor improvement program.

The two eastern congressmen are vacationing in Oregon during a tour for the study of public lands problems in the states of Montana, Idaho, Wyoming and Oregon. The cruise was suggested and arranged by Representative Harris Ellisworth of the Fourth District.

Pads Edge Stars 1-0; Acorns Win

By The Associated Press

Hollywood's shooting stars should keep right on zooming this week. Fred Haney's club plays host to hapless Sacramento, languishing in the cellar 23 games off the pace.

The Stars had won 10 straight until San Diego finally beat them 1-0 in the nightcap of Sunday's twin bill. It was San Diego's fourth win in 21 games with Hollywood this season.

Theo Smith tossed the Padres to their win with a six hit shutout. In the opener, a 10-9 slugfest, it was Tom Saffell's pinch triple in the seventh that gave Hollywood the winning margin.

They played 23 innings of baseball at Seattle where Tookie Gilbert led Oakland to two wins. Gilbert drove in both runs in the 2-1, 12-inning opener and scored the winning run in the 4-3, 11-inning finale.

Portland snowed Los Angeles under 9-2 in the first game, although the Angels outbit the Beavers 11 to 10. The big blow was Don Eggett's grand slam homer, his eleventh of the year. The Beavers took the nightcap 2-1.

In the "battle for the basement" series, San Francisco won the opener 5-2 then lost to Sacramento 6-1.

The Solons entertain Portland Monday in an unusual day-of doubleheader, making up previously postponed games.
