

At Colorado Spot Ike On Vacation

FRASER, Colo. (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower Friday cased into his first vacation since coming home from his European defense duties about one and one-half months ago.

Eisenhower and a Denver businessman friend, Aksel Nielsen, plan to get in plenty of fishing and, as the general puts it, "do nothing—in a big way."

Nielsen's secluded ranch, complete with all modern conveniences, is their hideaway for the next week.

The general made the 72-mile drive Thursday shortly after he and his wife, Mamie, bade farewell to their soldier son, Maj. John Eisenhower, as he stopped briefly in Denver en route to Seattle and Korea.

It was an emotional send-off to war for the 29-year-old major, Mrs. Eisenhower, who remained in Denver with her mother, Mrs. John Doud, choked back tears and bit her lips as she said good-bye.

When the big transport taxied off en route to Seattle, Mrs. Eisenhower waved and then kissed the general, who had paced nervously back and forth before going up the plane's stairs to have a final word with his son.

Monday's Quake Heaviest In U.S. In Twenty Years

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Monday's big earthquake in Southern California's Tehachapi mountains, felt from San Diego in the south to Red Bluff in the far north, hit harder than any quake since the one in 1906 that wrecked San Francisco.

Three seismologists agreed on that point after checking their instruments.

At Santa Clara University, the Rev. John A. Weber, S. J., said the first shock, recorded there at 4:33 a. m. PDT, was the strongest since 1906, harder even than the devastating Long Beach shock in 1933.

Labor Unions May Have Big Say In Demo Platform, Nomination

CHICAGO (AP) — Labor union leaders feel they will have a lot to say about the Democratic nominees and platform but the facts seem to be against any "Clear It With Sidney" situation like the party's 1944 convention.

The late Sidney Hillman, as chief CIO political strategist in 1944, was credited with being that convention's big wheelhorse. It was said, and also denied, that the late CIO President Philip Murray, rushing here from his Pittsburgh steel strike talks to take part in pre-convention confabs, told newsmen that he didn't expect any word from President Truman on how labor should turn its strength.

Jack Bailey, zany comic m.c. of Mutual-Don Lee's "Queen For A Day" show, week-days, 11:30 to 12:00 p. m., is taking a well-earned hiatus, effective immediately. Jack says that he plans to fall back on his favorite hobby . . . "keeping in condition as a congenial sybarite," for his main activity.

Lon Clark, who plays the lead in Mutual-Don Lee's "Nick Carter, Master Detective" series, learned the hard way that ignorance of the law is no excuse.

A somewhat disheveled Clark recently turned up 30-minutes late for rehearsal with the explanation that he had been nabbed for violating the "pigeon-feeding ordinance," and right in front of Mutual's New York studios, too.

Mutual's master detective had been scattering peanuts for the pigeons when he was collared by one of "New York's finest."

The Admiral Radio Corporation will sponsor the All-Star football game, played between the college All-Stars and the Los Angeles Rams, Friday, August 15, on Mutual-Don Lee. Game time is slated for 7:00 p. m. to conclusion.

In the event that the football classic is rained out on Friday, the game will be played, and aired, on Saturday, August 16th from 7:00 p. m. to conclusion.

where the nation's lumber supply comes from

DID YOU KNOW that the Pacific Coast states—Washington, Oregon and California—produce only 40% of the nation's lumber? And that 41% comes from the southern states? There are more than 53,000 sawmills in America, plus many thousands of producers of building materials that can be substituted for lumber. This is what makes the building supplies industry such a highly competitive one.

Some 6,000 lumber wholesalers and 26,000 retail lumber dealers seek lumber supplies for their customers at the lowest possible prices. It is this competitive buying—based on supply and demand that determines lumber prices. The market is so widespread and the distribution system so complex, that no single producer or group of producers can control prices. It is up to the Weyerhaeuser Timber Company, producing only 2.6% of the nation's lumber, to win customers by manufacturing needed quality products at competitive prices and by giving good service, so that we can keep our mills operating continuously.
