Civil War Vet Glide Folks Kin

By MRS. ARTHUR M. SELBY
Israel Broadword, Civil War Veteran, who died Friday, July 25, at the age of 105 in the Spokane Veterans hospital, was the uncle of Mrs. William Wendt of Glide, Mr. and Mrs. "Bill" Wendt are the proprietors of the North Umpqua cabins and trailer court.

An Oregon Journal article states: "The death of Israel Broadword, who took up arms at the age of 14 to fight in the Civil War, leaves only three living veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic. A resident of Samuels, Ida., since 1929, he was hospitalized at the Spokane Veterans Hospital the past ten days for diseases of old age."

"Broadword responded to his country's call three times, enlisting in the 51st Missouri volunteer infantry at the age of 14, and later in the regular army when only 16. After the Civil War, he rode with the 19th Kansas Cavalry as a sergeant during the Sioux uprising. "He was active physically and mentally almost until his death. After his 100th birthday, he was still cutting firewood at the farm where he lived with two bachelor sons. He gave up smoking only a few months ago because of a "disinterest" in tobacco.

"The three other known GAR survivors are James A. Hart, 110, Rochester, N. Y.; William A. Magee, 105, Van Nuys, Calif.; and Albert Woolson, 105, Duluth, Minn."

Plans, Greetings, Primaries Mark Political Field

By The Associated Press
The Democratic national ticket — Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Sen. John F. Sparkman — went back to work Tuesday on jobs interrupted last week before the party picked nominees for president and vice president.

The Republican ticket — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sen. Richard M. Nixon — went ahead with plans for the November election campaign. Nominated by the GOP two weeks earlier, they were that much ahead of the Democrats in mapping political strategy.

About 25,000 people gathered around Stevenson Monday as he returned to Springfield, the Illinois capital. In a brief speech in front of the courthouse, he thanked them for their good will and promised to work hard for election to the presidency. Then he went to the governor's mansion to answer mail and catch up on his work as governor for the next few days.

Sparkman, too, had a rousing reception on a limited scale as he returned to Washington to clean up his desk as senator from Alabama. He was greeted at the railroad station by about 350 fellow Alabamians with Rebel yells and a five-piece band. He pledged an aggressive campaign and said he will have a meeting with Stevenson on campaign strategy after a brief vacation he hopes to start within a few days.

Ike To Address Vets
In Denver, Eisenhower rallied his campaign high command around him to work out organizational details. He had a long conference Monday with Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, his political chief of staff. A luncheon meeting Tuesday with Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska, at Butler's request, was viewed as a move for support from those who backed Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the Republican presidential nomination. Butler was a Taft supporter.

Eisenhower's campaign headquarters announced that the general will make an "entirely non-political" speech at the national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Los Angeles Aug. 5. He will speak Aug. 25 at the American Legion's annual convention in New York.

Nixon returned to his home in Whittier, Calif., Monday night and was welcomed by a parade and a reception attended by 5,000 at the Whittier College stadium. Gov. Earl Warren and Sen. William F. Knowland were there. Nixon said in a talk that "prosperity built on peace rather than war" is the goal of the forthcoming Republican campaign.

Texas Name Shivers
In Texas, where the Democratic nomination usually means election, Democrats renominated Gov. Allan Shivers and nominated Attorney General Price Daniel for U.S. Senator on the basis of the latest count from Saturday's primary. Former Rep. Martin Dies, the first chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, had a big lead over six candidates for congressman-at-large but faced the possibility of a run-off with former Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith.

Voters went to the polls Tuesday for primaries in Arkansas and Louisiana.

In Arkansas, Democratic Gov. Sid McMath, seeking a third term, is opposed by Atty. Gen. Ike Murray, former Atty. Gen. Jack Holl, Rep. Boyd Tackett and Chancery Judge Francis Cherry.

With no state-wide contests, Louisiana Democrats will choose their nominees for eight seats in Congress. Rep. James Morrison has no opposition in the Sixth District.

Green School District Would Join District 4

Roseburg, Paul Helwig, board chairman, pointed out.

Helwig also expressed concern for the proposed Dillard high school. "If Green's coming here would cripple the school, I feel we would be selfish," he said.

Green's poor financial situation brought comment. "I don't think you should talk finance, because you don't have anything to offer," said M. C. Deller, Roseburg superintendent. "I think our primary responsibility is to District 4," said Clarenbach.

Not all sentiment was against Green, however. Board member Earl Sargent felt the wishes of the people in the Green District as expressed by the straw vote, should be considered.

Even if Green votes for consolidation, the Roseburg district will also need a majority affirmative vote of its residents. Clarenbach didn't think the Roseburg people would agree to consolidation with Green.

Sargent didn't agree. "I don't think the people would turn down education of children anytime," he said.

Dillard plans to start with just the ninth grade, adding an additional grade each year. Figures prepared by the County school office indicated that by the 1956-57 school year the Dillard High school consolidation would need between $900,000 and $1,000,000.

Petitions for Green's consolidation with Roseburg will be prepared by the county office and circulated immediately.

Adams summed up Green's attitude by saying, "I don't know whether Roseburg will take us or not, but we'll make a try at it anyway."

Aluminum Pay Increase Erases Strike Threat to speed up production. By truck and railroad tinsplate and other steel products moved to consumers.

New Goods Months Away
But one sour note in the general back to work story came from Defeated Production Administrator Henry H. Fowler. He warned it may be two or three months before manufacturers of civilian goods get sufficient flow of new steel. Fowler estimates steel production loss at 20 million tons.

While negotiators wrangled over terms of the settlement, one of the nation's biggest producers, Reynolds Metal Co., asked the government for a ceiling price increase of two cents a pound for primary aluminum.

The Reynolds request is the same as that filed a few days ago by Alcoa. Kaiser wants 2 1/2 cents per pound for primary aluminum with a 12 1/2 per cent boost for all of its aluminum products.

Uniform Hours For Liquor Sales Being Studied

Uniform hours of sale for all licensees of the Oregon liquor control commission and shorter operating hours on Sunday currently are being considered by the commission, which this week directed its staff to gauge the effect a standard 1:00 a.m. closing hour and limited Sunday sale would have on public convenience and law enforcement. The study is made to determine if such a revision in operating hours will promote temperance, the commission stated.

All licensees except club and restaurant licensees now observe a 1:00 a.m. closing hour, but licensed clubs and restaurants are allowed to operate until 2:30 a.m. The proposed revision would set the hours of 7:00 a.m. until 1:00 a.m. as the only hours during which any licensee could allow sale, mixing or on-premises consumption of alcoholic beverages.

No Sunday morning sale or on-premises consumption would be allowed under terms of the proposed regulation, which would set Sunday opening hour at 1:00 p.m.

Sale of food or continuance of entertainment, if allowable under terms of a license, would be permitted after 1:00 a.m., but the sale, mixing, service or consumption of alcoholic beverages would be prohibited after that hour, the commission explained. Until a formal revision is adopted, the present operating hours will remain in effect.

McAneney Returns After Attending Convention

L. P. McAneney, local realtor has returned from Chicago where he attended the Republican National Convention for the fifth consecutive time. He reports that the big show provided some thrills and signs of intraparty rivalry not ordinarily in evidence, but considered negligible by comparison with the subsequent feuds in the Democratic convention.

McAneney had a platform seat throughout the proceedings and renewed friendship with several former national chairmen of the Republican Committee, including Joe Martin who presided at the convention; Carroll Reece, southern manager for the Taft forces; John D. M. Hamilton, campaign manager for Alf Landon in 1936; C. H. Huston and Will Hays; also, Herbert Hoover. Fulton Lewis Jr. and family and Senator Bricker of Ohio.

McAneney stated that although the keynote address by General MacArthur and the speech by former President Hoover, were very inspiring and both received tremendous ovations, it remained for Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois to deliver probably the finest oratory of the convention.

Art Assn. Plans Douglas County Scenes' Exhibit

The Roseburg Art Association is preparing its exhibit of historical Douglas County scenes, which go on display Thursday.

They will continue on exhibit through Saturday at the Library Park. The hours will be 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. the first two days and conclude at 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

The display is the work of about 15 local artists who have been spending considerable time reproducing historical landmarks on canvas.

An added feature will be a demonstration of waxing and exhibit of a loom, according to Mrs. Kenneth Ford. There will also be a puppet demonstration.

The Centennial board, which is lending its support to the display, will have a booth and will sell Centennial souvenirs, most of which are the work of the Art Association.

Featured will be lithographs, oil and water paintings, and pastel, colored pencil and charcoal drawings as well as ceramics and weaving.

Allies Accuse Reds Of Parley Stall—Really!

United Nations command Tuesday MUNSAN, Korea (AP) — The accused the Reds of stalling in the staff officer talks on a proposed Korean armistice agreement.

The charge came from the U. N. command spokesman, Lt. Col. Joseph J. Borchert, after U. N. and Communist staff officers met one hour and 44 minutes at Panmunjom on wording of the truce agreement draft.

The staff officers are talking over the meaning of words and phrases in the draft while the full dress conference — deadlocked over the prisoner exchange issue — is in recess until Sunday.

Col. Duncan S. Somerville, U. N. staff officer, told newsmen the Reds apparently are under the impression they "can make progress by putting fancy rosebuds on the chariot when we have no wheels on it."

Somerville said he told the top Red staff officer, Col. Chang Chun San: "We are here today to try to resolve important matters which require good faith by both sides. We are not here to establish simultaneously a technicality in an obscure paragraph for bargaining purposes or to delay and confuse the valid issues."

The Communist radio at Peiping, in a broadcast heard in Tokyo, accused the senior U. N. delegate, Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, Jr., of quibbling in the recent secret negotiations and trying "All sorts of dodges" to re-classify Red prisoners as deserters.
