State Fairgrounds Get Face Lifting

Salem — A panorama of vibrant pastel shades against a backdrop of cool green and glistening white will greet the visitor at the 87th Oregon State Fair, opening here on Saturday, Aug. 30 for its annual eight-day run, according to Leo G. Spitzbart, general manager of the 1952 exposition.

"The State Fair Commission," said Spitzbart, "thought that an eye-arresting array of specially-blended pastel tones applied to the various structures on the fairgrounds, would give a note of newness and difference as contrasted to the all-white appearance heretofore seen by fair-goers."

He pointed out that a five-man crew of painters under the direction of Bill Dorman of Salem, has been busy readying the buildings in their new dress of color and will be kept busy painting right up until Fair-time almost. "Within our budget limitations," he added, "we are dong this job at no little expense so that our visitors may see their Oregon State Fair at its most colorful best.

Dorman, contractor in charge, estimated that some 50,000 square feet of surface will have been repainted by the time his crew completes its task. In the painting, some 1500 gallons of oil-base paint, made in Salem by the Norris-Walker Paint Co., would be utilized.

The new color scheme of the physical layout of the Fair buildings will appear like this: the livestock building in "Ballad", a rosy tan; the stadium in "Bean" a dusky rose; the machinery sheds in "Swiss Blue" an attractive variation on sky-blue; the administration offices and main restaurant in "Banana," a tone verging toward chartreuse; the archways and portico of the Agricultural building and the arcade-way leading to the Grandstand, in "Acacia", a scintillating yellow; and the 4-H dormitory in a gleaming new coat of white.

U.S. Target Of Bitter Attack In Iran Debate

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Bitter attacks on the United States highlighted a debate Tuesday in which the Iranian Parliament overwhelmingly approved Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's program for economic and social reforms to head off national bankruptcy.

The seriousness of the anti-American demonstrations was underscored when Deputy Shams Ghanat-Abadi demanded the ouster of all Americans from the country.

Ghanat-Abadi is the righthand man of Ayatullah Seyed Kashani, Iran's leading religious figure and a close supporter of Mossadegh.

Anti-U. S. feeling has been rife here since the July 21 riots which ousted ex-Premier Ahamed Qavam, but this was the first such outburst in Parliament.
