

Lack Of Airport Light Reduces Flight Service

West Coast Airlines' late evening flight, No. 9, has been suspended temporarily. The plane, scheduled to arrive at 8:33 p.m. DST., from the north, will be put back into service when lighting at the Roseburg airport has been given CAA approval, reports Norman Hunt, local manager for WCA.

Regulations require that no plane may be landed at an unlighted airport after official sunset, Hunt explains. Official sunset now is 8:30 DST.

All lights have been installed at the Roseburg airport except an obstruction light on Mask hill north of the field. The city, according to W. A. Gilchrist, city manager, has been working on details of an easement across private land and a site for the obstruction light. Various complications, however, delayed an agreement. An easement now has been agreed upon tentatively and is expected to be signed within a few days. Installation of the remaining light is expected to be complete within a week or ten days after bids have been called for and a contract let. All materials, Gilchrist says, are available locally. Unless the suspended flight can be restored within 30 days, there is likelihood, it is reported, that it may be removed from the schedule.

VA Hospital Patients To Dance Monday Night

The Red Cross will sponsor a dance for patients at the Veterans' Hospital Monday night, Aug. 10.

An orchestra will play for the affair, which starts at 7:45 p.m. DST. Mrs. Paul Barcus, Red Cross representative for the hospital, invites all local women to attend.

INJURED CHILD BETTER

Cathy Wikoff, critically injured Monday night when her mother was killed in a highway crash south of Roseburg, was reported "somewhat better and responding to treatment" today at Doernbecher Hospital in Portland. Charles Wesley Wikoff, 33, father of the 18-month-old girl, was reported in fair condition today at Community Hospital. He suffered severe shock and internal injuries in the crash.

Western Dress Seen In Sutherlin

Walking down the streets of Sutherlin you will meet people dressed in various types of Western garb. And the kangaroo court is getting those not dressed in that style, with a fine of buying a ticket for the Timber Days Queen.

The queen will be crowned at the annual ball Friday night. The Timber Days celebration will take place Saturday and Sunday.

Visitors From Horton

Mrs. Wesley Browning and small son, and Ronnie Wilcut, of Horton, Oregon stopped enroute on a trip to California in Sutherlin for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Brittain Slack Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Hutchesen spent last week end at Winston visiting with Mrs. Hutchesen's daughter, Mrs. Marie Reiser, and family. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Peterson have purchased the residence formally owned by the late A. P. Slack on W. First Avenue, and will move there as soon as some repair work has been completed.

Eldon Young of Eugene was a business caller in Sutherlin Tuesday.

POTATO MAN — Mrs. Adrian Peasley of 336 Meadow Lane displays a large russet potato that grew into the shape of a stubby little man. Sprouts on the potato are shaped like short legs and arms and the little potato man even appears to be laughing at one of nature's jokes. Mrs. Peasley received the potato in a sack presented to her by Salem relatives, Mr. and Mrs. George Meyer. (Picture by Paul Jenkins)

Africa and other foreign countries. Lifelong Salesman

With the exception of this time traveling around the world, and a World War I hitch in the Navy, Rhoden has been a salesman all his life.

"I've sold just about everything, he says.

He was born in Valdosta, Georgia, on June 2, 1887. His first trip West was in 1913 when he went to work in Salt Lake City, Utah.

And, though retired, you'll still see him around the store. He comes down every morning "just to loaf." About noon he leaves to go home to his wife and home on Calkins Road.

He's shown a lot of active interest in this town he's watched grow over the years. He's a former president of the Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Kiwanis, Elks, Masons and Shrine.

Right now he sees room for more industries allied to the lumber business, like a sash and door or an unfinished furniture factory, for instance. He thinks there are sufficient retail outlets, for the present.

But he expects to watch Roseburg grow for a good many more years, into a really big, bustling Southern Oregon city.

PROMOTION OKAYED

WASHINGTON — President Truman Tuesday approved the promotion of Capt. Frederic W. Hesser, Hermiston, Ore., to rear-admiral in the Navy Supply Corps. Hesser, a native of Hinsdale, Mont., is general stores supply officer for the General Supply Office at Philadelphia.

City Charter's Revision Planned At Myrtle Creek

Myrtle Creek councilmen started action Tuesday night to revise the old city charter, adopted in 1910.

The council voted to request a model city charter for guidance from the League of Oregon Cities. It was proposed that a revised charter be offered to the voters at the Fall election.

A boundary dispute in which Dr. Richard E. Williams of Myrtle Creek claims a fence on city property is 10 feet inside his boundary appeared headed for the courts.

The council left the problem of proving the boundary line to Dr. Williams.

The Rev. James Krantz of the Myrtle Creek Nazarene Church, who had requested previously a waiver on a setback ordinance for a new church sanctuary, reported plans for the building were altered after discussion with a council committee solved the problem.

Councilmen also voted to charge the meals of city prisoners doing street work to the street department instead of billing the police department for prisoners' food.

A request for changing the bus zone for the Tri-Valley Bus Line was approved. City officials also decided to amend the building codes to bring them up to date.

Truman Candidate Beaten In Missouri

Ken of Kansas City, a bitter foe of administration foreign and domestic policies.

Machine Smashed

Ken had only taken opposition. Next to the size of Symington's victory, the primary's big surprise was the way Sheriff Callanan's bid for statewide power failed.

His machine was all but wrecked when it ran head-on into an uprising of independent voters in St. Louis.

Callanan even lost his own bid for renomination as sheriff. His program to achieve statewide power called for Rep. Phil J. Welch of St. Joseph to win the Democratic nomination for governor.

The governor is an important man to a Missouri political machine because he controls the big city police and election boards.

But Welch went down to defeat by a margin only slightly less decisive than in the Senate race. Former Gov. Phil M. Donnelly of Lebanon downed him in the voting surge.
