and thinks never mind, that it will be all right."

The general called for devotion of the nation's energies to peace, and "not to the sterile, negative, stupid business of war or preparation for war."

In calling for a middle course, he said it must be assumed that all Americans accept such social gains as old age security, insurance against unemployment, decent housing and better education facilities.

"Let's call those things just a solid floor that keeps all of us from falling into the pit of disaster," he said.

Urges Victory

In advance of his speech last night there were these developments in Boise:

1. Eisenhower conferred with the Republican governors of nine Western states. The general called it a very satisfactory discussion of problems of the area and what we believe has to be done quickly to get this country the future it deserves."

Gov. Earl Warren of California said his state was "doubtful." He added, "I believe that with a vigorous campaign we can carry our state." He said about 800,000 more Democrats than Republicans are registered.

2. Eisenhower met with a group of GOP workers and urged them to campaign for a party victory in November with the same sort of zeal the Allies showed in driving Hitler into oblivion. He also likened the administration to a party too long in power "at the city hall," and then said: "Go out and get the battalions — go out and get all the good Americans that are sick and tired of the present city hall."

3. The general told a news conference, "We dwell in an atmosphere of hysteria and fear," but that in the light of American resources and ingenuity, "it is silly for us to be scared."

The Eisenhower conference here today is with about 140 GOP leaders from the states of North Dakota, South Dakota, Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa, Oklahoma and Kansas.

The redwoods and the big tree species of Sequoia and the dawn redwoods of China are believed to be the only three survivors of a kind of tree that in past geologic ages grew all over the northern hemisphere.
