Recreational reading books worth about $600 are now available at the County school office for second and third class school district officials to pick up for their schools.

The books came here through the County School Library Fund. Number of books each district receives are determined on the basis of 10 cents per census child.

First class districts receive their books directly from the state office, as their amounts are so much larger than the second and third class areas.

Stevenson Launches Four-Point Attack

He has gone too far with certain accusations connected with his Communists-in-government drive.

Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) said yesterday in Seattle that Eisenhower's proposed support of McCarthy was based on the general's recognition of the importance of Republicans winning control of the Senate.

Knowland said Eisenhower would be under a "terrible handicap" if he were elected without such control, and added: "In this year's close race, the party can't afford to lose a seat in Wisconsin."

Fishy Exchange

On foreign policy, Stevenson's statement that the GOP program was about as firm as "a bushel of oats" drew a quick retort from GOP Sen. Mundt of South Dakota, who said the Republican platform is better than "what Stevenson is attempting to do—to stand on a bushel of red herrings."

President Truman once said that certain charges of communism-in-government were just red herrings.

Both Eisenhower and Stevenson continued mapping campaign strategy today in New York, conferring with party leaders and supporters.

Eisenhower scheduled a busy day, bolstered by word that he could count on a "surprising" labor vote.

Richard J. Gray of Albany, N.Y., president of the three-million-member AFL Building and Construction Trades Department and a long-time Democrat, told Eisenhower yesterday he believed his and many other labor organizations were swinging to the general.

He comes from Eugene where he studied during the summer session at the University of Oregon. Hill, married, is the father of four daughters.

New Principal At Tenmile

A new principal, C. A. Dysinger of Roseburg, has been hired to replace Ted Peterson, at Tenmile Grade School, who resigned according to Kenneth F. Barneburg, county Superintendent of Education.

Peterson resigned Monday, Aug. 25 to enter business.

Tenmile School will open at 9 a.m., DST, Tuesday, Sept. 2, the new principal announced today.

Students will not be required to stay throughout the day. They will just register and receive books, Dysinger says.

A faculty meeting will be held Tuesday morning immediately following the registration.

All seven other members of the Tenmile faculty were employed there during the 1951-52 school year.

A graduate of Southern Oregon College of Education, Dysinger accepted the position Tuesday evening at a school board meeting.

Dysinger has done graduate work at the University of Oregon, taught at Glide and Grants Pass. Recently he was principal of the elementary school in Blachly.

Dysinger lives with his wife and two of three children in the West Roseburg area. His daughter attends Roseburg High school. He also has one five-year-old and one married son.

Stevenson's Tidelands Views Find Disfavor

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson's views on the tidelands issue made him "less palatable" to Gov. Robert F. Kennon and has made GOP candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower "more palatable."

Kennon gave this opinion, the first time he had indicated his thinking about the Democratic presidential candidate, at a press conference here yesterday.

He indicated that Stevenson's stand had enhanced Eisenhower's chances in Louisiana, where the oil-rich coastal areas are a vital political issue.

Stevenson said last week he was opposed to any "blanket cessation" of off-shore oil reserves to individual states.

Kennon, an anti-Truman Democrat, made it clear, however, that he had not made up his mind about the presidential contest.

Guaranty Life Co. Off To Fine Start

A report of the progress of the company was presented and general satisfaction was expressed in the fact that during the first six months more than six millions of life business had been written, and in the disability department the premium income on the volume of business produced was approximately equal to that of the life business. The company is writing Life, Health, Accident, Hospitalization, and Polio Insurance.

Financial condition of the company was reported to be excellent, and with a very good opportunity of actually increasing the surplus during the first year of its operation. This would be a most unusual attainment.

All of the directors felt they were building an institution for Oregonians that was contributing to the welfare of Oregon, and expressed gratitude to the people of Oregon for their very fine response in making the operation so highly satisfactory in the early stages of its development.
