

Gen. Eisenhower, Facing Criticism, Promises That He'll Soon Turn On Steam

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of Gen. Eisenhower's friends have thrown rocks at him for not campaigning more actively, naming names, pinpointing issues and getting down to cases on whatever his program is.

This hasn't seemed to dishearten the general any, at least publicly. Republicans who talked with him said he told them he had deliberately kept the campaign in low gear until now and now he'll open up.

His opponent, Gov. Stevenson, hasn't actually been a ball of fire himself, up to this time. The real test for both men begins next week when they start their campaign of countrywide speechmaking.

But, if it's any consolation to Eisenhower's friends who think he's been tardy, the Republican presidential candidate in 1948, Gov. Dewey of New York, dawdled even longer. His campaign didn't get going until late September.

Since Dewey didn't come to a good end, so far as presidential candidates go, his tactics might not be considered a good example for Eisenhower to follow, if the general had any thought of doing so.

Dewey's aides — he seemed to do a lot of talking to the public through his aides — made it known he didn't want any of the people around him to be overconfident about winning. Although, after he lost, he was blamed for having been too overconfident all the time.

(Eisenhower — His aides have pumped out quite a bit of information about the general, too, since that's what they're paid for—didn't want to seem overconfident. In fact, he said he was going to run scared.)

Dewey conferred frequently about foreign affairs with John Foster Dulles, who has been mentioned as possibly the general's choice for secretary of state, if the general wins. Eisenhower already has smashed heavily at the Truman administration's operations in the foreign field.

Rift Healing Doubtful
Dewey said the Taft-Hartley Labor Law might need some changing. So did Eisenhower.

Dewey met with the man he defeated for the Republican nomination, Sen. Taft of Ohio. The rift between them was never healed.

(Eisenhower is supposed to meet with Taft, who he defeated for the Republican nomination. It is still questionable whether the rift between the Eisenhower and Taft factions can be completely healed.)

Dewey said the job of cleaning Communists out of the government would start as soon as he was elected.

(Eisenhower pledged, in a speech to the American Legion Monday, he would cleanse the government of subversive influences.)

Motschenbacher Head Of Young Republicans
Elliott Motschenbacher of Roseburg was elected president of the Young Republicans club Thursday, Aug. 28, at a meeting in the Del Rey Cafe in Winchester out-going president John Pett announced today.

Pett listed the other new officers as: vice president, James Stoop; Secretary, Mrs. Thomas Hartfield, Winchester; and treasurer, Bob Hansen, Sutherlin.

Eugene A. Springer, chairman of the Douglas County Central Committee, was the main speaker at the meeting.

Meetings are scheduled for: Sept. 10, in Myrtle Creek, Sept. 24, in Drain, Oct. 8, in Sutherlin and Oct. 22, in Roseburg. Location and time will be announced later.

A special invitation to the classes of '46 through '49 to interest themselves in the affairs of government was made by President Pett and their "attendance at our meetings is cordially invited" he said.

The Young Republicans club is composed of those who believe in the principles of the Republican party and youth is not necessarily a prerequisite he added.

YOUR BODY
ROSEBURG, OREGON — These health articles are written and paid for by Dr. B. A. SMITH, Chiropractic Physician, 1500 Garden Valley Road, in the interest of public health and to help you understand the body function. Look for these informative articles every Saturday.

Glands are a natural part of the structure of the body. They are, however, not usually noticeable unless they become enlarged through inflammation. This inflammation is simply an extension of an infection from other parts of the body, since glands are a part of a system of vessels (lymphatic system) which drain the tissues all over the body, and empty finally into the general blood stream. The glands may be regarded as acting like traps in a drainage system, to catch the germs, or poisons which the germs produce, and so protect the whole body from invasion, although the glands may themselves become invaded. Germs gain entrance to the glands through wounds, sores, abrasions, and inflammation in various parts of the body.

Enlarged glands are common in the neck than elsewhere, because inflammation about the throat and mouth is so frequent. Enlarged glands are seen and felt as movable lumps under the skin. They may be more or less tender. In the neck they may be found below or behind the jaw, along the sides, and below the scalp at the back of the neck. Enlarged glands in the armpits arise from extension of inflammation in the hands, arms, or chest; enlarged glands in the groin, where the upper and inner part of the thigh join the body, occur from inflammation in any part of the foot or leg or external sexual organs.

In the neck, enlarged glands at the angle of the jaw and upper part of the sides of the neck are caused by inflammation of the tonsils, by sore mouth and tongue,

Eugene Ordered To Stop McKenzie River Project

SALEM (AP)—Gov. Douglas McKay's Natural Resources Committee asked the Eugene Water Board Thursday to halt its plans for further power development on the McKenzie River.

The governor said the committee, which consists of heads of state agencies dealing with natural resources, believes the McKenzie River "is more valuable to the state of Oregon as scenic, recreational area than as a potential power source."

He said the Eugene Water Board has plans to construct tunnels to direct the flow of the river to produce power.

Ike Allen, who resides on Little River road, is now able to visit friends, after spending three weeks in the Douglas Community hospital. Ike was severely burned five weeks ago while working for Earl Swift, an independent logger. Carrying a power saw and following the "cat" driven by Swift, Ike was unaware that the power saw was leaking gasoline, when he stopped to light a cigarette, he was suddenly enveloped in flames. Shouting for help, he tried to beat out the flames but it was several minutes before his companion could hear him above the noise of the tractor. Swift ran to Ike's aid, rolling him in the dirt.

TV For Portland November Hope

NEW YORK (AP)—Portland has a good chance of becoming the first city in the country to have a commercial television station operating on Ultra high frequency (UHF).

Experimental UHF equipment owned by Radio Corp. of America is being shipped from Bridgeport, Conn., to Portland for use by Empire Coil Co. in building its Oregon station. Empire Coil, which has a permit for UHF station, hopes to be on the air in November, possibly by election day.

Radio Corp. operated the Bridgeport station two and a half years for research purposes, but now has closed it.

Portland is the largest city in the nation without television now that Denver's first station is opened. The Denver station, KEEL-TV, like all others operating in the country, is on a very high frequency (VHF) channel.

It was one of the first to go on the air after the FCC lifted in July its freeze on new TV stations.

Welfare Commission Wants State Hospitals

PORTLAND (AP)—The State Public Welfare Commission, over strong opposition by one of its members, Friday voted to ask the next Legislature to finance state-owned hospitals for welfare patients.

Commissioner Ira Staggs said the plan was "a large chunk bitten out of socialized medicine and state-owned hospitalization."

Administrator Leo Howard reported that $1,900,000 a year now is spent by the Welfare Commission for hospital care for the indigent and for nursing home care for the aged. The commission said that figure could be reduced under a state-owned hospital program.

Extension of vocational rehabilitation also was urged by the commission.

Grants Pass Safeway Store Again Robbed

GRANTS PASS (AP)—This city's Safeway store was robbed Friday night for the third time in the past 2 1/2 months.

An armed gunman held up Checker Edith Hunt at 7:45 p.m. and made off with about $75 in a paper sack, police reported. There were a number of customers in the store but no one apparently knew about the holdup until after the robber had fled.

On June 14 a bandit got $100 in a similar holdup. On Aug. 10 an armed bandit forced Manager E.F. McAllister to open the store and offer safe and hand over $3500. McAllister was handcuffed to a post in the rear of the store and not discovered for five hours.

Foreign Policy Tops Campaign Program Of Republican Party

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican committee of which Sen. Robert Taft is chairman has put out a campaign program listing foreign policy as the number one issue of this election year.

The 116-page loose-leaf pamphlet was prepared under the direction of George H. E. Smith, who is permanent staff director of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Although Taft is the chairman of that committee, it was not known whether he had a direct hand in outlining the pamphlet.

The Ohio senator has been vacationing in Canada since the Republican convention last month.

The policy committee document, entitled "Background Material on Major Campaign Issues in 1952," lists as key issues in addition to foreign policy:

Corruption Cited
Corruption in government, communists in government, expenditures and economy, civil rights, and the record of Republicans in recent sessions of the Congress.

Here are some of the things the document has to say:

"Twenty years of Democratic rule of American foreign policy has been a failure."

"Mere substitution of Stevenson for Truman" would mean no change at all in policies of the federal government.

Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, owes his nomination and support to "powerful bureaucrats and the special interest groups."

Charges Craft
"Graft, bribery, favoritism and other forms of moral and criminal crookedness have existed for the entire 20 years of the Roosevelt-Truman regime in varying degrees."

"This sore against the public interest and national welfare has been permitted to fester until today its poison has been disclosed to taint the administration from top to bottom."

"President Truman set the tone for the moral degeneration which marks the administration."

Rise of Communists "to power in United States government dates from the first term of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

"The Democratic party did not put a single civil rights measure on the statute books" during the past 20 years.
