

Natural History Lesson Afforded In Animal Acts

A quick lesson in natural history is afforded by a roundup of animal acts with this year's Shrine-Polack Bros. Circus, which will be at the Roseburg Shrine Club on Sunday and Monday, Sept. 14-15, at the Douglas County Fairgrounds, with performances twice daily at 3:15 and 8:15.

Jack Joyce's performing camels are dromedaries, the single-hump species indigenous to Arabia and North Africa. These particular specimens, however, were captured by Joyce himself in the desert back country of Australia, where their ancestors had been imported years before for pack duty. In reiteration of the popular duty that camels are stupid and stubborn, Joyce has found the dromedary actually smarter than the horse and considers it superior for training to the two-hump bactrian camel from Asia.

The opposite is true of the two main species of elephants. The fast-moving young Packs elephants with the circus are of the Asiatic type and are specifically from Siam. Their trainer, Mac MacDonald, declares the big-eared, low-browed African elephant is less intelligent and never used for circus training.

Zoologists rate the elephant next to the ape in intelligence, and the ape next to man. The chimpanzee, smartest of the four branches of the ape family, is represented in the circus by the frolicsome performers of Joe Lemke's "College for Chimps."

Birds and beasts that navigate better at sea than in the air or on land appear together in Albert Spiller's offering of penguins and seals. The penguins are birds from the Antarctic that have wings but can't fly. They also have feet but can't run. On land they waddle. In water they swim like fish. What are called seals in the circus are actually sea lions. They are mammals whose feet turned to flippers to make them good swimmers. They are born on land and, oddly enough, have to be taught to swim.

Man's best friend has ample representation in Chester "Bobo" Barnett's assorted pooches, the big shepherds of Karlis Petersons that do tricks on horseback, and the poodles and sheep dog of Harold Gautier in the novelty presentation, "Excess Baggage." The trainers of these dogs seem agreed on one thing—pedigreed or mongrel, it's the dog's own individuality that makes him a good performer.

ROSEBURG MAN JOINS TAXPAYERS' GROUP URGING "NO" VOTE ON RACING BILL

WALTER MARRION

SAYS: "Vote No on the Racing Bill"

"Here's why we can't afford to lose pari-mutuel revenues:

"(1) Taxes would go up. Next year the State Treasury would lose roughly $1,000,000 in pari-mutuel revenue. We taxpayers would have to make up the loss.

"(2) The fair will suffer and may die. Our 36 county fairs depend to a large extent on pari-mutuel funds for existence. They'll each lose an estimated $12,500 annually if racing is abolished.

"(3) Oregon counties receive more than eight (8) times as much as the track stockholders are paid in dividends. That's not unreasonable. In addition, official records and audits show that over 98% of every wagered dollar that produces this revenue, remains here in Oregon.

"Joining me in this opposition are 37 responsible men representing every county in Oregon. Our Taxpayers' Committee to Retain Pari-Mutuel Revenues is composed of ranchers, businessmen, farmers and civic leaders who realize pari-mutuel funds make a yearly contribution to the tax and economic structure of our state."
