UMPQUA DAIRY'S LABEL DOES PROTECT YOUR TABLE

TESTED and APPROVED FOR YOUR PROTECTION

Have you ever wondered just what our slogan, "Let Our Label Protect Your Table", means? This little slogan means that all of the dairy products processed in our plant are bottled and handled under the most strict sanitary conditions. Our milk has been tested time after time and approved every time by the Department of Agriculture, State of Oregon. These tests are made without our knowledge from samples selected from grocery stores, restaurants, our plant or any other place where our milk is used; then a report is made to us.

In a recent test made of our milk products, this report was made to our office. All butter-fat contents were above those required by state law and above those advertised on our milk containers, the bacteria count was lower than that which can be measured in the testing laboratories and the containers of Umpqua Dairy Milk were sterile.

We are proud of this report. It did not just happen. We keep a constant check on every piece of our equipment, it is kept sterile with live steam. We are continually testing all of our own products for butter-fat standards and purity, and then when the raw milk arrives in our plant it is handled and bottled with expediency and efficiency to keep ours the purest, the most wholesome and the most hygienic milk products possible. The State of Oregon has set a standard that must be met by all dairies but we have established our own standards that must be met by us and maintained by us for your protection.

If you are not using Umpqua Dairy Milk, you are missing the best. Buy it, drink it at every meal.
