Special Deer Season In Klamath Cancelled

PORTLAND (AP)—A special deer hunting season in Lake and Klamath Counties was called off by the Game Commission Friday. The season in the mule deer refuge of the two counties originally was scheduled for Oct. 18-20. But the commission said so many hunters were concentrated in the Lake and Klamath areas that a special season might jeopardize deer life on the range. The hunters went to Southern and Eastern Oregon for their season this year when the forests of most of Western Oregon were closed because of fire danger. The Game Commission said it would meet Monday to consider extending the deer season in Western Oregon.

Yoncalla Voters To Decide Water Issue On Ballot

By MRS. GEORGE EDES

The Yoncalla city council adopted a resolution Tuesday, Oct. 7, to place two measures on the Nov. 4 ballot. Adoption of the resolution followed considerable discussion of the inadequate water controversy. The first measure will be to borrow $114,000 for a new water system in the form of bonds, which will be repaid through water revenues. Money received will be used to install a new reservoir, storage facilities, a new site and a complete new water system of mains and laterals to bring the water layout up to date. The second measure will be for $24,000 to furnish money to build a water filtration site and plant. Payment would be through revenues as on the other measure.

Supporters of the measures say that if passed the city would be able to supply everyone with as much water as they want anytime of the year and there should never be any rationing or limiting of water during the summer months. This would also provide with possible lower fire insurance rates and increase the value of property.

The following names will be on the ballot for Yoncalla city council members. Two councilmen positions are open with Jean Cowan, Norman Stapleton, Charles Hedges and Claude Daugherty running for the positions. Only one name has been filed for mayor, Lee Bickenstaff, with Mrs. Bernice Radtke running for recorder-treasurer.

Al Hoeman, principle of the Yoncalla Grade School requested that several blocks of the city be closed during class hours for safety purposes. The request was granted with the street from the Anna Kruse residence to the Otto Schieman home closed.

2 Game Board Employees Fined For Law Breaking

CORVALLIS (AP)—Two State Game Commission employees who violated game laws will be dismissed Oct. 15, L. C. Zumwalt, regional supervisor of the game commission, reported Friday.

Zumwalt said Denver Fleming, 31, employed at the game management farm north of here, and Paul Swanson, 26, a field crew leader, were arrested and pleaded guilty to putting their wives' deer tags on animals they had shot.

Wayne Bohl, 26, a graduate student at the Oregon State College Experiment Station, also was arrested for a similar violation.

Each was fined $100 plus $4.50 costs for borrowing deer tags. Fleming was fined another $100 and $4.50 for exceeding the bag limit, Zumwalt said. The three had their hunting licenses suspended.
