Robins Feast On Apples In Winston Orchards

"Peckin's faster 'n pickin' any day, farmers in Winston report. Applees disappearing in short order caused an investigation which show robins descended on the community.

Wherever the birds spent their summer vacation, there must have been a fruit shortage, disgusted fruit growers complain, because they "happily went to work on the local apple crop."

Ohio Youth New Star Farmer Of United States

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Walter Wayne Vogel, a 21-year-old youth from Republic, Ohio, who started farming seven years ago with one acre and built up an operation worth $16,000, is the new Star Farmer of America.

The honor—carrying a $1,000 cash award—went to the Ohioan at Tuesday night's session of the Future Farmers of America convention here. It is the highest honor the FFA awards.

Three regional Star Farmers also were named, and in a ceremony before some 6,000 farm youths, received $500 checks each.

They were John W. Reynolds Jr. 20, Goodlettsville, Tenn., star farmer of the south; George H. Warmington, 20, McMinnville, Ore., star farmer of the Pacific region, and Frank L. Arnold Jr., 21, of Middlesex, N. Y., star farmer of the North Atlantic region.

The three and Vogel also were among 319 FFA members who earlier received the organization's highest degree, that of American farmer.

Dallas M. High of Ohio City, O., vice president for the central region, made the presentation of the Star Farmer award to Vogel, noting that "you have overcome tremendous difficulties to become a successful farmer and a good leader."

Vogel's parents were separated before he entered high school.

Living on a one-acre farm with his mother near McCutchenville, Ohio, the boy got his start by renting small plots and hiring machinery to cultivate his land.

He made $700 his first year with 85 ducks, 400 ducklings, 370 chicks and six acres of corn as well as one-fourth acre potatoes.

In his four high school years, he earned nearly $3,000 from farming and more than $1,200 from outside jobs.

In 1950, he rented a badly rundown farm from a man in Tiffin, O., and so pleased the owner by his improvements that he began working with the boy to better the farm.

Now, Vogel, who is married, has farm equipment, livestock, and other assets estimated at $16,000.

COACH MADE BIG JUMP

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Eddie Erdlatz, head football coach at Navy, jumped into his present coaching position without ever having held the position of head coach. After graduating from St. Mary's College where he was an outstanding end on the '33, '34 and '35 teams, Ed stayed on at his Alma Mater as line coach in '36 and '37. After holding other assistant positions at San Francisco, Navy and the professional San Francisco 49'ers, Erdlatz was named head coach at the Naval Academy in 1950.

Democrats See Oregon Victory In Morse's Bolt

PORTLAND (AP) — Democrats were elated by the decision of Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Republican, to vote for Gov. Adlai Stevenson for President, but Republicans deplored the action.

E. C. Sammons, president of the United States National Bank and treasurer of Morse's 1950 campaign commented:

"There was once a man named Judas Iscariot, and I don't recall that history ever said he was a great guy."

But Democratic State Chairman Howard Morgan likened Morse to George Norris, Gifford Pinchot and Fiorella LaGuardia, described as an "illustrious group of Republicans who have courage and integrity enough to place the safety of their nation above obedience to their party."

Monroe Sweetland, Democratic national committeeman, predicted the Morse decision would swing the state to Stevenson.

Jesse Gard, Republican National committeeman, said Morse had made "the worst mistake of his career."

Morse, announcing Saturday he would vote for the Democratic candidate, said Gen. Eisenhower, the GOP standard bearer, has become a puppet of the reactionaries.

Douglas Firs Produce Very Light Seed Crop

PORTLAND (AP) — Douglas fir trees of the Pacific Northwest produced a very light seed crop this year and scientists don't know why, W. D. Hagenstein, chief forester of the Industrial Forestry Association reported Friday.

Unseasonal weather during pollinization and lack of available supply of stored food in the tree are two of the reasons which have been advanced for the complete lack of seed cones on the trees in some areas of Western Oregon and Washington, he said.

There has seldom been as severe a crop failure as this year, the forester said. Every five to seven years the seed yield is heavy.

The seed shortage does not mean that the industry will not be able to plant trees this year, though. Seeds are collected during heavy yield years and stored for use later.

It is the birds and squirrels who will suffer, Hagenstein said. They depend on the seeds for food.
