PROGRAM ENJOYED BY RIVERSDALE GRANGE

Friday night, Oct. 17, nineteen members from the South Deer Creek Grange were guests of the Riversdale Grange. The occasion was an exchange program of the lecturers. Lecturer Hila Walters introduced the South Deer Creek lecturer, Freat Karcher. Front and center on the stage was a wooden frame with corn stalks, pumpkin and autumn leaves, representing a magazine cover. Neil Hart narrated the skits. Masters Joe Brumback and Carl Youngren participated. As Neil Hart turned the pages of his magazine and commented on different items, they were portrayed on stage in the wooden frame.

Next a duet was sung by Kathryn Karcher and Alda Brumback, accompanied at the piano by Iola Mathis. A poem on friendship was given by Cora Rogan. Mary Ellen Collison modeled an all purpose dress. Four numbers were given by a five piece orchestra including Kathryn Karcher, piano; Helen Anderson, violin; Bud Karcher, bass horn; Bill Karcher, drums; and Don Karcher, trombone. In closing, Esther Morber sang "Gods Little Angel," as little Karin Karcher, dressed as an angel, lighted a star hanging from above.

At the close of the regular meeting after refreshments were served, the South Deer Creek Orchestra played for dancing.
