Weary Koreans Rout Chinese From Hill Top

SEOUL (AP) — Battle-weary South Koreans fought yard by yard up the highest pinnacle on Sniper Ridge today and routed fresh Chinese Communist troops in a 4 1/2-hour ordeal of cold steel, hot rifle fire and bursting grenades.

Then they drove on up the ridge toward the Yoke, a network of Red trenches and caves commanding the northern end of Sniper Ridge.

Allied warplanes roared down on the Yoke, spilling armor-piercing bombs at the fortification network in an effort to open a chink in that stubborn Communist obstacle.

Only seven hours earlier, the hard-bitten ROK's had pulled off Pinpoint Hill, highest peak on the ridge, under the onslaughts of two fresh Chinese battalions just arrived at the front.

Elsewhere on the flaming Central Front, the Reds held control of Pike's Peak, their last stronghold on Triangle Hill just west of Sniper. They beat off U. S. Seventh Division attacks last night and today.

The Chinese also held Iron Horse Mountain, another strategic peak 20 miles to the west.

In the air war, U. S. Sabre jet pilots reported shooting down two Communist jets in Northwest Korea near the Yalu River border to Manchuria.

The heaviest ground fighting raged on Sniper Ridge, north of Kumhwa.

From dawn to dusk Friday, Communist artillery pounded South Korean positions with 20,000 rounds of big gun fire, a near record for a small sector.

Then they attacked with 1,500 fresh Chinese troops who charged the peak with fixed bayonets and grenades.

"They just kept coming and coming," AP correspondent John Randolph reported from the front.

The ROKs gave way. But they dug in on the south slope and counter-attacked at 8 a. m. They reached the crest of Pinpoint at 10 a. m. and fought a savage, close-quarter action on the top for more than two hours before routing the battered remnants of the two fresh Red battalions.

Truman Aiming For Divine Right, Taft Declares

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft said last night President Truman is attempting to create a "sort of divine right of kings" in American politics with Adlai Stevenson, Democratic nominee for president, as his "true disciple."

The Ohio senator said the President is trying to surround himself with an aura of infallibility.

"Every once in a while," Taft said, "the President says 'I see an emergency,' even when there is no emergency."

Truman, Taft added, "started a war in Korea without authorization of Congress. He claims the right to send U. S. troops wherever in the world he chooses," and added: "Stevenson is a true disciple of the Truman philosophy."

The President, Taft said, tries to convince the American people the Republican party "is the party of great corporations and special interests and complete contempt for the welfare of the little man."

"But a careful reading of Mr. Truman's speeches," the Ohioan said, "shows his belief in all-powerful government. . . Nothing is so dangerous or costly to the little fellow as government spending, taxation and control."

On the subject of inflation, Taft said that "No one is better off today in America; many are worse off today."

Flier Tests Hurricane Ban Theory; He's Lost

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Coast Guard continued its search today for Gordon Clauser, 40-year-old Norman, Okla., man who reported his plane was running out of fuel over water east of Miami Saturday night.

Four planes and assorted surface craft carried on the search for Clauser, who may have been the victim of a hurricane he tried to tame with a secret formula.

Clauser's wife told the Miami Herald by telephone from her home in Norman her husband had come here to fly into the storm so he could scatter pellets in the turbulent clouds, confident he could stop the hurricane passing east of Florida.

"He didn't want anyone to know what he was doing," she said, "because he wanted to test his theory."

She said he operated a hail prevention company the past two years and believed he had stopped a tornado near Plainview, Tex., last year.

Surgery Faces Six Kids With Extra Fingers, Toes

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The six children of a Holly Springs, Ark., couple are to undergo surgery next week for removal of extra fingers and toes.

All six children of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Brown were born with six fingers and six toes.

Mrs. Brown, who also has extra digits on her hands and feet, said the biggest problem of 12 fingers and 12 toes is economy. She said everyone in the family has had to have extra width gloves and shoes — which can run into money.

will go to Korea if he is elected. Some Democratic leaders called it "a grandstand play."

Speaking in Boston Saturday night, Stevenson in effect asked Eisenhower what he intended to do in Korea. The Democratic nominee said: "If the purpose of the general's trip is to settle the Korean War by a larger military challenge, then the sooner we all know about it, the better."

Eisenhower is expected to answer the "grand stand play" charge when he gets to Pittsburgh.

Negroes Hear Ike

Eisenhower spoke in New York's Harlem district Saturday afternoon. To a crowd of Negroes and Puerto Ricans estimated by police at 15,000 to 23,000—a figure which appeared to newsmen to be on the heavy side—Eisenhower pledged to end discrimination in Washington and the armed services if elected. Police said the Harlem turnout for President Truman two weeks ago was much larger.

The GOP candidate will concentrate on New York, New Jersey, Illinois, Massachusetts and possibly California in his final moves. These five states, plus Pennsylvania, carry a total electoral vote of 168. It takes 266 to win the election.

British Speed Airliner Cracks Up Near Rome

ROME (AP) — One of Britain's eight-mile-a-minute Comet jet airliners raced into the air off Rome's airport last night, wobbled momentarily and then smashed back to earth in a belly landing.

None of the 36 passengers and six crew members aboard the world's fastest airliner was hurt, although the plane was badly damaged.

Officials of British Overseas Airways said the cause of the accident had not been determined. The plane was taking off on the second leg of its London-to-Johannesburg flight.

Oregon's Demo Heads In Break

PORTLAND (AP) — Democrats were choosing sides Friday in an open break between the state Democratic chairman, Howard Morgan of Moonmouth, and State Sen. Thomas R. Mahoney, Portland Democrat.

Morgan touched it off by announcing he wanted a change in the law that requires party officials to sign candidates' statement in the official voters' pamphlet.

He said that made it appear he was endorsing Mahoney, and about the mildest thing he said thereafter was that Mahoney was a "source of embarrassment."

Mahoney retorted he felt the same way about it. He was embarrassed to have it appear Morgan was endorsing him in his campaign for re-election.

Among the first to take up sides were Volney Martin, state Democratic secretary and a candidate for the state senate in the Portland district, and William H. Way, chairman of Multnomah County Democrats. Martin took Morgan's side, Way supported Mahoney.

Slash Burning Permits Given Go Signal Today

Slash burning permits are being given the green light by forest protection agencies here today.

With some rain last week, the high humidities and the thick fog, the fire danger is very small, forest officials report, and slash burning permits are being processed immediately in most areas.

Just last week slash burning was permitted on a "limited basis" only.

No forest fires or spot fires from slash burning have been reported by press time today.
