China National Troops Massing In Burma, Report

RANGOON, Burma, (AP) — Reliable informants in Burma say Chinese Nationalist troops trained in Thailand have entered Burmese territory, perhaps to fight Chinese Communists or Communist rebels inside this country.

Known as Forces 177 and 178, the informants said, the troops crossed the Thai - Burma border 80 miles north and 120 miles northeast of Kentung.

They said that before the crossing was made, heavy equipment, including small cannon and flame-throwers, were transported by elephants and mules in the direction of Chinese Nationalist headquarters at Munghsat, 100 miles south of Kentung.

About 3,000 recruits have completed training in Thailand, the informants said, and about 7,000 more are expected to do so before the end of the year.

(In Bangkok, Gen. Karb Kunchorn, speaking for the Thai Government, said he "categorically" denied the Rangoon report. The general, director of the Thai public relations department, said there were no Chinese troops whatsoever in Thailand.)

Several thousand Chinese Nationalist troops, forced out of China by the Reds after the Communist victory in the civil war, have been reported bivouacked in Burma.

The Burma government announced early this year that it intended to disarm and eject them, but there have been no reports that this project has been completed.

The country also is fighting against assorted groups of local rebels, including at least two sets of Communists.

THREE MINUTE INTERLUDE

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y. (AP) — A three-minute parking zone has been set up here on Collier Street.

In passing the ordinance, the City Council did not say what you were supposed to do with the three minutes, but it will cost you one cent in the parking meter.

Chinese Radio Derides Ike's Korea Peace Aim

TOKYO (AP) — A Peiping broadcast said Tuesday President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower could do nothing about ending the Korean war unless "U. S. ruling circles" abandon "their preposterous proposal for forcible detention of war prisoners."

In its first reference to Eisenhower's forthcoming trip to Korea, Peiping asserted "Eisenhower's ambiguously worded promise to end the Korean war enabled him to win a majority of votes."

A broadcast recorded here was quoting at length from an article in Peoples Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist Party.

"Eisenhower," said Peoples Daily, "must prove to these Americans immediately that he is not an utter fraud."

"However, unless U. S. ruling circles change their policy in Korean negotiations by abandoning their preposterous proposal for forcible detention of war prisoners, Eisenhower cannot offer such proof."

Peoples Daily called Eisenhower a "blood thirsty warmonger" and said "Wall Street resorted to a deceptive method of 'rotation' by taking Eisenhower out of the army to replace Truman."

BUYS 100 MILES OF GRAIN

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — In 43 years, Frank J. Taylor, veteran grain dealer, figures he has bought and sold enough grain in train carloads to stretch 100 miles.

Newspaper Real Target Of Hooded Gang In South

TUPELO, Miss. (AP) — A young newspaperman prepared to take his wife back to North Dakota Wednesday out of reach of hooded men he told police ordered him out of town Wednesday night because he is a Yankee.

Newell Anderson, who celebrated his 28th birthday Tuesday said he was giving up his job as circulation manager of the Tupelo Journal and taking his expectant wife back to his home in Fargo, N. D.

"If I were single I might stay and fight it out," Anderson said. "But I've got to think of my wife." The young couple, married last June, are expecting a baby in April.

They came here Oct. 1. Anderson came from a paper in Grand Forks, N. D.—the home of pretty, blonde 21-year-old Mrs. Anderson—to become circulation manager of the Journal.

Journal Publisher George McLean offered a $100 reward for information leading to the capture of the hooded figures Anderson said took him on a wild ride of terror Monday night and gave him an ultimatum to leave town.

The Journal has published prominent accounts of the attack on its front page.

"This is not an attack on the boy," McLean said in an interview. "Not a person in the world could have anything against him. It is directed at hurting the newspaper. We've always stood for things that some people here object to," McLean declared.

He would not specify what he referred to but indicated the newspaper has a strong policy against bigotry.

"There have been all kinds of rumors as to why this happened," McLean said. "But the chief of police, I and my staff are convinced it is no hoax. It is absurd to think otherwise."

McLean said the Journal would pay for returning Anderson's furniture to Fargo, N. D. The couple arranged to leave Tupelo by car shortly after noon.

McLean said the parents of both young people told them: "If you don't get out of there, we'll come get you."

Ruling On 'Bogus' Type Appealed By Publishers

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Newspaper Publishers Association announced Tuesday it had filed with the Supreme Court in Washington a brief supporting its appeal in the case of printers' union demands to be paid for setting "bogus" type.

Acting on the ANPA appeal from a ruling of the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago upholding the practice, the Supreme Court on Oct. 13 agreed to rule on the case.

The brief was filed by Elisha Hanson, general counsel of the association.

"Bogus" type usually is not used, nor intended to be used.

The practice occurs when an advertiser submits his ads to a publisher in matrix form.

The matrix bypasses the type-setters and goes directly to the stereotype room, where a plate is made to reproduce the ad.

Under the "bogus" practice, the ad also is set by printers who get paid for the work, even though the type is destroyed without being used.

Contrary To Purpose

In his argument, Hanson said the decision of the court of appeals is contrary to the express purpose of the National Labor Relations Act because services are not performed and are not intended to be performed for the employer in the process of setting "bogus" type.

He contended that payments demanded by the International Typographical Union for the setting of "bogus" type are in the nature of exactions for services not performed or to be performed.

He also argued that the mere fact that employees engage in a physical operation which has no relation to the purpose of their employment does not make the prohibition in the National Labor Relations Act against exactions for services not performed or to be performed.

Negro Receives Suspended Rap For 'Leering'

YANCEYVILLE, N. C. (AP) — A 45-year-old Negro tenant farmer was given a six-month suspended sentence Wednesday for assaulting a white girl by "leering" at her.

Superior Court Judge Frank Armstrong placed the Negro, Mack Ingram, on probation for five years. The maximum sentence permissible was a two-year road term.

Ingram, the father of nine children who previously denied he had criminal intent in approaching the girl, said through an attorney that he would appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, he was directed to pay court costs, post a $2,000 appearance bond and a $200 appeal bond.

The Negro was convicted by an all-white, male jury Tuesday.

Previously he was given a maximum two-year term by a recorder's court but he appealed that conviction to superior court.

HOLDUP IN SIX WORDS

PITTSBURG (AP) — Six words describe the holdup of a radio store here.

"Don't move," said the gunman as he reached over the counter and cleaned out the cash register of $25. "Don't move," he said again as he went out the door. "I didn't," said Mrs. Ruth Falk, proprietor.

Mercury is considerably heavier than lead.

"PRIVATE-EYE" BUSINESS

TOKYO (AP)—Kyodo News Agency reports the private detective business is double that of 1951.

As usual, a lot of the clients want to check up on spouses, or possible future spouses. One youth asked an agency to check into his fiancée's background to see if she had been running around with U.S. soldiers.

He thought she spoke English too well.
