SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A well-dressed, fuzzy-cheeked youth is charged with holding up a branch of the Bank of America for $4,406 yesterday only to be captured minutes later with the money slipping out of his pockets. Police booked him as Stephen B. Ickles, 21, of Red Bluff, Calif., and the San Francisco Chronicle said he is the son of the late Paul Ickles, noted artist, and of Alvina Ickles, daughter of a prominent Boston Back Bay family.

Dogs, Cat Won't Benefit From Eccentric's Will

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Three dogs and a cat aren't going to share in the estate of their master Carl F. Bergk, who died in 1929 at the age of 83.

Superior Judge Stanley Mosk ruled yesterday that the animals, ranging in age from 8 to 14 years, cannot benefit from a trust fund of $11,154 provided in Bergk's will. He said Bergk might have made an outright gift for them from his $7,306 estate.

So, the estate will go to Bergk's sister, Katherine W. Meloy, and a niece, Alice W. Johnson, who gave assurances the animals will receive proper care.

Marilyn Studies Offer For Books

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Those Max Reinhardt manuscript books that Marilyn Monroe bought at auction have become "a Jonah to me," the actress says.

"So many schools want them. I hardly know what to do," she wailed last night as a fifth university joined in the dignified clamor for the late theatrical producer's volumes.

Marilyn said the latest plea was from the University of Kansas City. Previously USC, UCLA, Stanford and Harvard each let her know it would certainly like to add the books to their shelves.

Meanwhile USC tried a new wrinkle in wooing Marilyn's favor. A 20th-Century Fox spokesman said an invitation had been conveyed from the SC librarian to join him in his 50-yard-line box at the Rose Bowl football game on New Year's Day. The invitation included any additional guest of her choosing. Marilyn hadn't decided about accepting.

The librarian, Dr. Lewis F. Steig, asked Marilyn last week to add her acquisition to SC's $12,000 Reinhardt collection of some 3,000 items. Marilyn's contribution would make the SC collection complete, he said.

Judges Propose Salary For Board Of Parole

PORTLAND (AP) — The Circuit Judges Association of Oregon wants the state's unpaid parole board members to receive $12,000 annually.

A resolution asking that Oregon's parole board be placed on a budget plan similar to that of California was approved at Friday's meeting of the judges' organization.

Also recommended were increases in starting pay for parole officers and an enlarged staff to handle the increased parole work.

The judges opposed the so-called indeterminate prison sentence plan, where sentences for law violators would be fixed by the state board of parole rather than by the judges.

A committee reported that in its opinion "judges should fix the length of sentences according to their own views and as part of public duty."

McKay Says He'll Fire Commissioner Straus

SPOKANE (AP) — Gov. Douglas McKay will fire Reclamation Commissioner Michael Straus as his "first or second" order of business when he becomes secretary of the interior, Marshall Dana of Portland said Friday.

Dana, chairman of the policy committee for the National Reclamation Association, said McKay told him two weeks ago he was looking for a "hard headed businessman" to take Straus' place. Dana also told the Washington State Reclamation Association that McKay advised him work on the Columbia Basin Project will continue after he takes office and that an objective study will be made of the controversial Hells Canyon dam project in Idaho.
